The entire area is characterised by its charming tree-lined banks, quaint bridges, and numerous locks. It is a popular spot for locals and tourists alike to relax, stroll, and enjoy a picnic or a drink. Along the canal, there are endless trendy cafes, bars, restaurants, and boutique shops, which have made it a popular alternative hotspot for tourists looking to enjoy the Parisian way of life.

The area is particularly lively in the summertime when locals gather on the banks of the canal to socialize and enjoy the warm weather. It is also a popular spot for boat tours, where visitors can admire the unique architecture of the surrounding buildings from the water.
