Location & Local Information

Tucked away on the peaceful island of Koh Yao Noi, Paradise Koh Yao is surrounded by one of Thailand's most breathtaking natural landscapes, the iconic limestone karsts of Phang Nga Bay rising dramatically from emerald waters. Dense tropical rainforest, protected national parkland, and a long stretch of untouched beachfront create a rare sense of seclusion, where the only sounds are rustling palms and gentle waves. It's a pristine hideaway that feels worlds apart from the bustle of Phuket or Krabi, despite being easily reached by boat.

Beyond the resort, island life moves at an unhurried pace: winding jungle paths, small fishing villages, and quiet coastal roads reveal the authentic charm of southern Thailand. Guests can explore hidden lagoons by kayak, snorkel in crystal-clear bays, or simply watch sunrise paint the karsts gold from a hammock. The atmosphere is raw, scenic, and deeply calming, a place where nature sets the rhythm and every moment feels blissfully unspoiled.
