Lostwithiel Stable House

Region: The South West Sleeps: 4

Overview

Designed by the renowned architect Sir John Soane, Lostwithiel Stable House sits within the beautiful Lostwithiel Manor Estate in the heart of the Cornish countryside. Surrounded by landscaped gardens, parkland, woodland, lakes and a historic deer park, this beautifully restored retreat is ideal for families or two couples looking to explore Cornwall's north and south coasts. The wider estate also includes several additional properties, making it an excellent choice for family gatherings, celebrations and weddings.

Inside, Sarah Fortescue Designs have created elegant yet welcoming interiors filled with bold colour, luxurious fabrics and contemporary comforts. The open-plan living and dining room is warm and characterful, complete with a roaring log burner, smart television and board games, while the modern kitchen is fully equipped for self-catering stays. The cottage offers two beautifully styled bedroom suites, one kingsize and one twin, both with luxurious ensuite bathrooms, organic toiletries and fluffy bathrobes for an indulgent stay.

Guests can fully enjoy the exceptional estate grounds, from lakeside picnics and deer park walks to tennis, cycling, yoga and exploring the woodland trails. The gardens are spectacular, featuring fountains, tropical planting, historic monuments and vibrant seasonal colour, while fresh produce from the kitchen garden and optional catering services add an extra touch to your stay. Just four miles from Lostwithiel and close to Fowey, the Eden Project and Cornwall's beautiful beaches, this is a truly memorable countryside escape.
