Lostwithiel Dairy House

Region: The South West Sleeps: 8

Overview

With sensational views and complete tranquillity, Lostwithiel Dairy House is a beautifully restored four-bedroom retreat within the magnificent Lostwithiel Manor Estate near Lostwithiel. Designed by Sarah Fortescue, the house combines playful décor, bold colours and beautiful local craftsmanship with luxurious comfort. Surrounded by landscaped gardens, lakes, woodland, a deer park and miles of walking and cycling trails, this stylish countryside hideaway is perfect for families or friends exploring Cornwall's coast and moors. The wider estate also includes several additional properties, making it ideal for celebrations, weddings and larger group stays.

Inside, the house is colourful, characterful and wonderfully inviting. The cosy living room, dressed in rich blue tones with eclectic furnishings and artwork, leads into a stylish dining space featuring an oak table crafted from timber sourced on the estate. The quirky kitchen combines striking red and mint green cabinetry with modern appliances and a sociable breakfast bar. One ensuite bedroom is on the ground floor, while upstairs offers three further beautifully styled bedrooms with luxurious soft furnishings, elegant fabrics and stylish bathrooms complete with organic toiletries and fluffy bathrobes.

Guests can enjoy tennis, yoga, cycling, wild swimming, games rooms and lakeside picnics across the estate, alongside woodland walks, alfresco dining and fresh produce from the kitchen garden. Just four miles from Lostwithiel and within easy reach of Fowey, the Eden Project and Cornwall's stunning beaches, Lostwithiel Dairy House offers an unforgettable countryside escape.
