Location & Local Information

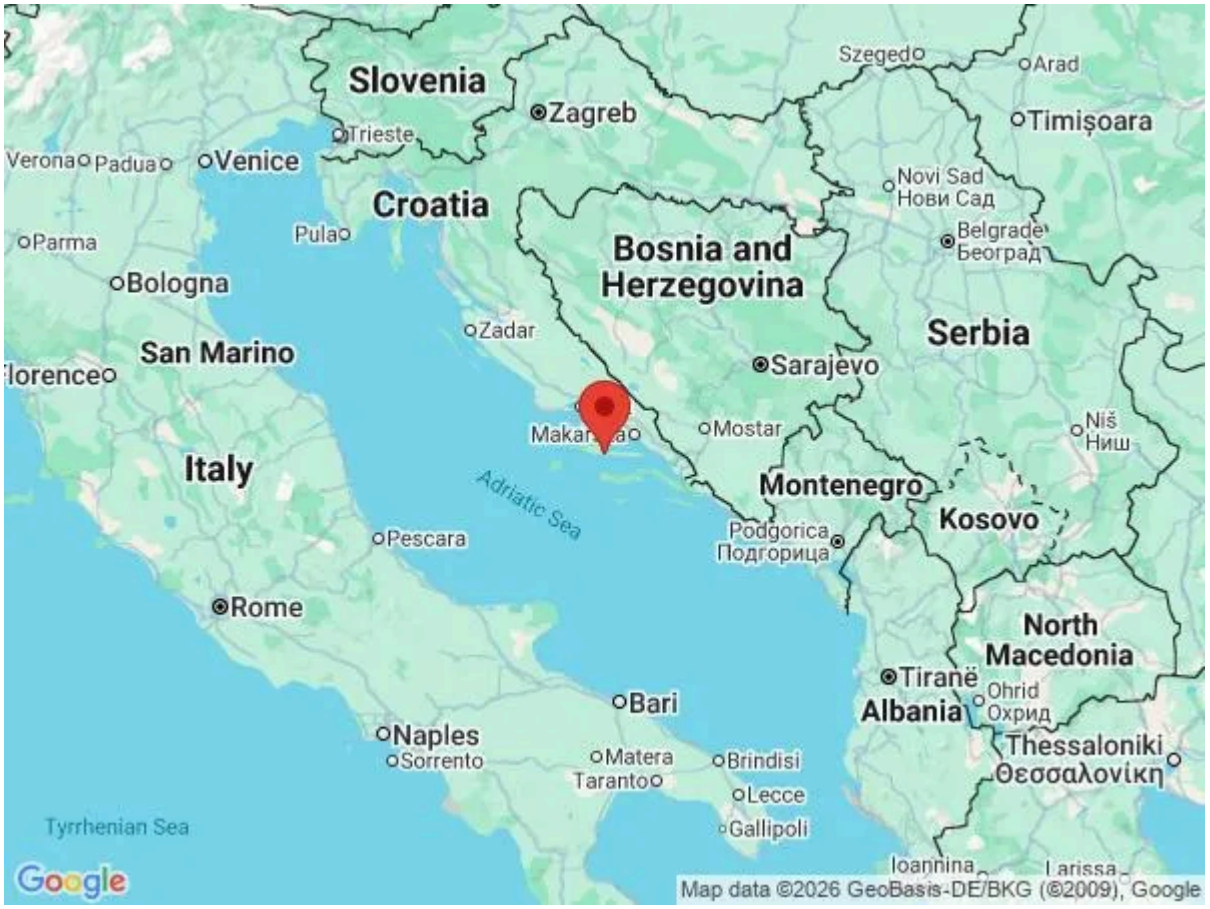

Zavala sits on Hvar's south coast, offering a quieter base within easy reach of Hvar Town. The village is small and traditional, with stone houses lining narrow streets and a handful of local restaurants serving regional dishes and wines. Views stretch across the Adriatic towards the islands of Šćedro and Korčula, with vineyards and olive groves shaping the surrounding landscape.

A short drive north leads to Jelsa, a lively harbour town with a wider choice of shops, beaches and dining spots. Nearby coves such as Vitarnja are well-suited to families, while Mlini Beach, closer to Zavala, is known for its clear water and pine-fringed setting.

For day trips, Hvar Town offers historic landmarks alongside a busy waterfront, while Stari Grad provides a slower pace with its long history and waterfront promenade. Across the island, walking and cycling routes pass through lavender fields, small villages and coastal viewpoints, giving a broader sense of Hvar's varied character.
