Overview

Experience the magic of the Luberon in this beautiful village house with a swimming pool and mesmerising valley views, set in the historic and enchanting village of Oppède le Vieux.

This hidden gem is a rare find in such an idyllic and timeless place – step inside and sense the history all around you as you appreciate the wonderful décor and authentic character. A large hallway, lounge and dining area wraps around the maison with ample space to relax and dine alongside floor to ceiling windows framing the incredible vistas. A rather elegant study and TV room adds to the sense of comfort whilst the charmingly traditional kitchen features a breakfast table for your morning baguettes and croissants. Five pretty bedrooms with either village or valley views each have an en suite bath or shower room, making Maison Coloniale ideal for up to 10 guests.

The outdoor space is just as impressive with the most spectacular views. It feels private from the rest of the village and it's the perfect place for a coffee in the shade of the mulberry tree or dining al-fresco on the attractive terrace. Enjoy a glass of local wine as you gaze out towards the wooded hills and village or take a dip in the swimming pool to cool off on warm summer days.

Of course, it's only a minutes stroll to the heart of the old village, a gorgeous place with beautifully restored houses, a couple of restaurants and a pottery studio. In an outstanding position, the village is perched on a mountainside looking out towards the Oppède valley. As you climb the steep lanes above the village towards the castle ruins and church the scenery is even more dramatic. This is Provence at its very best.

Other beguiling Luberon villages waiting to be explored include Ménerbes, Gordes and Roussillon whilst there are many breathtaking hikes and bike rides through the countryside passing vineyards, cherry orchards, lavender fields and woodland. Visit charming Farmer's markets, potter around antique stores or sample the excellent wines of the Luberon.

Soak up the romance of Aix-en-Provence or Saint-Rémy, kayak along the Sorgue and admire the dreamy Provençal landscapes which inspired the likes of Van Gogh and Cézanne in this incredible part of southern France.

Location & Local Information

Maison Coloniale is a village house in beautiful Oppède le Vieux, a tiny 12th century village in the Luberon region of Provence.

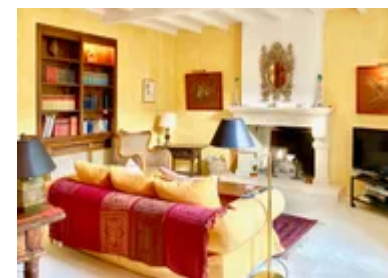

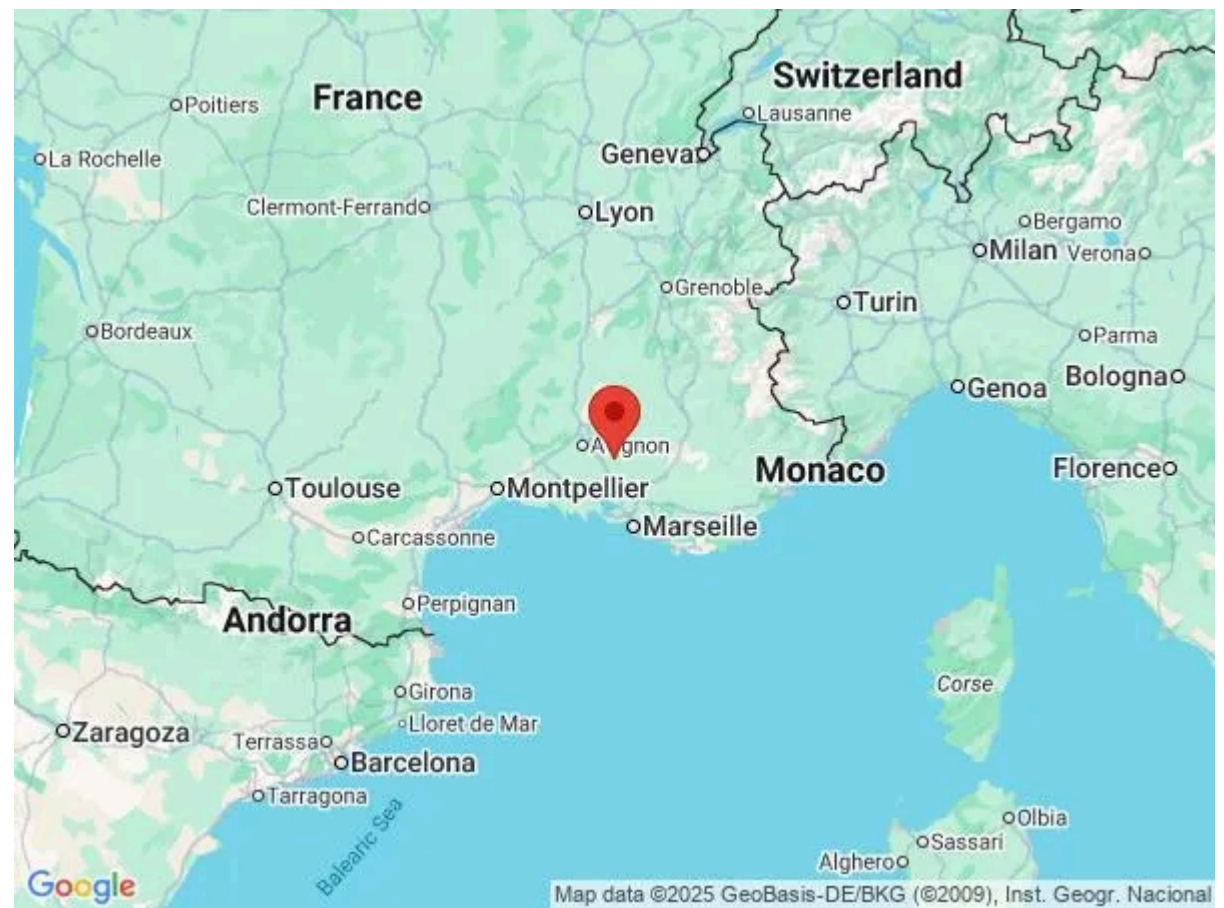

Step out of your home and straight onto the narrow lanes of the medieval village and within a minute you can be in the pretty village square with its café-restaurant, passing ancient houses en route. Walk above Oppède le Vieux to the very top to see the church and castle ruins, taking care on the steep lanes (and there are some steep drops too) and admire the incredible Luberon views around you.

About 2km away by car is the more modern part of Oppède which is still charming and authentic in its own Provençal way. Here you will find amenities such as a couple of restaurants, a bakery, bar and a tennis court. A little further is Coustellet (7km) with supermarkets, a pharmacy and a brilliant Farmer's market on a Sunday morning showcasing the very best local produce.

There are so many other idyllic Luberon villages to discover – perhaps start in nearby Ménerbes (5km), the place that inspired Peter Mayes' 'A Year in Provence', also known as one of France's 'Plus Beaux Villages'. The ochre-tinted village of Roussillon, Van-Gogh's beloved Gordes and picture-perfect Bonnieux can also be reached within half an hour or head to historic Apt on a Saturday morning to experience one of Provence's most wonderful markets.

Hiking through the Luberon is also incredible, including many trails linking villages passing through vineyards, olive groves, cherry orchards, woodland and lavender fields. Look out for cycling and mountain biking opportunities as well as horse-riding and rock-climbing. Hire kayaks and sail down the Sorgue river from Fontaine-de-Vaucluse.

Other day trips to consider include Avignon (37km) with its UNESCO World Heritage sites, the romantic town of Aix-en-Provence, around an hour to the south, or even Marseille (90km) with all its vibrancy and character. Then there's artistic Saint-Rémy, perhaps combined with the gorgeous hilltop village of Les Baux-de-Provence in the captivating Les Alpilles region of Provence, just under an hour by car.
