Location & Local Information

The fabulous Vistas Algarve is located on the edge of Almancil, an enchanting village close to Loule. Almancil is famous for its pottery shops and its three Michelin star restaurants. The neighbouring village of Sao Lourenco boasts a fabulous church decorated with excellent azulejo work dating back to 1730. It is one of the prettiest churches in the Algarve. Adjacent to the church is the local centro cultural which hosts a range of musical performances and art exhibitions.

Close by, Loulé boasts a wonderful historic atmosphere with its landmark church Nossa Senhora da Piedade standing proud on the hill, a modern dome shaped building. Loulé is famous for its Saturday morning gipsy market and its Arabian style daily market. The municipal market building stems from 1908. Loulé's main church, Igreja de Sao Clemente stands in the middle of a small square and to the left is the peaceful garden, Jardin dos Amuados which is an ancient Arab cemetery. The ruins of its 13th century Loulé castle are just down from the market and very close to the Convent of Espirito Santo which also houses an art gallery. The towns warren of charming, narrow, cobbled alleys is brimming with cafes and shops. Quinta da Tor offers some fantastic wine tasting of authentic Algarvian wines. Approximately 10km north of Loulé are the walking trails of Fonte Benemola with some lovely picnic spots on the way.

The Vale do Lobo area has been instrumental in establishing the Algarve as a golfers paradise. The British golfer Henry Cotton designed the Vale do Lobo course and there are plenty of others close by. Vilamoura's courses are recognised as some of the best on the Algarve. Keen golfers can practice on the all-weather putting green at the villa. There are also some fantastic stables offering treks which take you through stretches of the classic Algarve countryside and even along some of the beaches.

Vilamoura is a modern playground for the super-rich who arrive in their million-dollar yachts at the town's stunning exclusive marina. The town boasts a fantastic beach, elite golfing with five exceptional courses, chic lounge clubs, fine dining, a casino and much entertainment.

Guests can also easily visit the stunning Ria Formosa, Tavira and the gorgeous islands from Vistas Algarve.
