Gouvia is a small modern village with two pebbly beaches and features the ruins of the ancient Venetian shipyards from the 17th Century. It's a great place to visit with plenty to offer for tourists. The main beach has sunloungers and umbrellas, so you can catch some rays looking out across the bay, by the small church of Ipapandi set on a tiny island . Or, if you're feeling more active, why not have a go at one of the watersports on offer? In the village, you'll find restaurants with cuisines from traditional Greek food to Mexican, Chinese, Thai and Italian – sure to keep every palate happy! There's also a lively nightlife with lots of great bars.

20-minutes away by car is Corfu Town, the island's capital. Filled with plenty of attractions, sights, shops and restaurants it's definitely worth a day trip or two during your stay. Some of the landmarks include the Mon Repos Palace – the birthplace of The Duke of Edinburgh, Prince Philip in 1921; the Old and New Fortresses; The Corfu Museum of Asian Art; Casa Parlante History Museum; Spianada Square and The Church of Saint Spiridon.

A small island, Corfu is very accessible by car, making it easy to explore from North to South and East to West. Go hiking through the rugged mountains, take a boat tour along the coastline, sunbathe on secluded beaches or go wine tasting in the vineyards. In the centre of the island you'll also find the Corfu International golf club if you fancy hitting some balls under the hot Greek sun, as well as Aqualand: one of Europe's best waterparks – sure to be a hit with the kids!
