

La Dame Blanche

Region: French Riviera (Cote D'Azur) Sleeps: 10

Overview

Embraced by fragrant pine trees, La Dame Blanche is a striking 5-bedroom contemporary villa just moments from the heart of Cassis. This sophisticated retreat captures the essence of the French Riviera—effortlessly stylish yet wonderfully relaxed—offering guests a restful escape in one of southern France’s prettiest port towns.

With its crisp white façade and clean architectural lines, the villa makes a bold first impression. Step inside and you'll find interiors bathed in natural light, where modern design meets comfort in every carefully curated detail. The open-plan living space features inviting sofas and a generous dining area that flows seamlessly into a sleek, fully-equipped kitchen—creating the perfect setting for long, sociable meals and relaxed evenings with friends or family.

Five elegant bedrooms await, three of which boast their own en-suite bathrooms, offering a sense of privacy and calm that makes winding down all too easy. Each room has been thoughtfully styled to reflect the home’s modern aesthetic, with soft textures and neutral tones that enhance the serene atmosphere.

Outside, the villa’s landscaped garden feels like a hidden sanctuary. Spend sun-soaked afternoons lounging by the inviting pool, stretched out on the wraparound decking, or gathered on the shaded outdoor sofas with a chilled glass of local rosé in hand.

Just 1km down the hill lies the vibrant centre of Cassis, where life revolves around its postcard-perfect harbour. Browse the charming markets, pick up fresh bread from a local boulangerie, or settle into a waterfront café as fishing boats bob in the marina. From here, boat trips depart to the Calanques—breathtaking inlets carved into limestone cliffs, best explored by sea.

For beach days, the nearest stretch of sand is a mere 1.5km away, while those craving sweeping coastal views can hike up to Cap Canaille. As the tallest sea cliff in France, this dramatic headland promises unforgettable vistas and a touch of adventure, with opportunities for caving, abseiling, or simply enjoying the walking trails.

And when you’re ready to roam further afield, two Provençal gems—Marseille and Aix-en-Provence—lie within easy reach, both under a 45-minute drive.

Location & Local Information

Located just outside of the centre of Cassis, with the start of the staggeringly beautiful Calanques National Park 2.5km away, La Dame Blanche is the perfect base for exploring Provence. The villa is set in a calm, residential neighbourhood surrounded by pine trees. You can walk to a local supermarket whilst the heart of Cassis is just a little further down the hill (as long as you don't mind the uphill walk on the way back).

Cassis, one of the quieter French Riviera towns, has all you could need for a memorable holiday. The current town was mostly built in the 18th century but with roots spanning from the Palaeolithic era, through Roman occupation and medieval settlement the town is full of historic detail and character. The 13th-century castle towers over the town, perched on the Cap Canaille cliffs and below you will find a maze of streets filled with pastel-coloured buildings. Wander around and you will see lovely fountains, ancient churches and the grand town hall.

With artisan shops, small boutiques and some amazing markets selling fresh local produce, Cassis is a great place to shop. When you are feeling hungry you can enjoy a meal at a harbour-view restaurant or grab breakfast in a little street-side café in town.

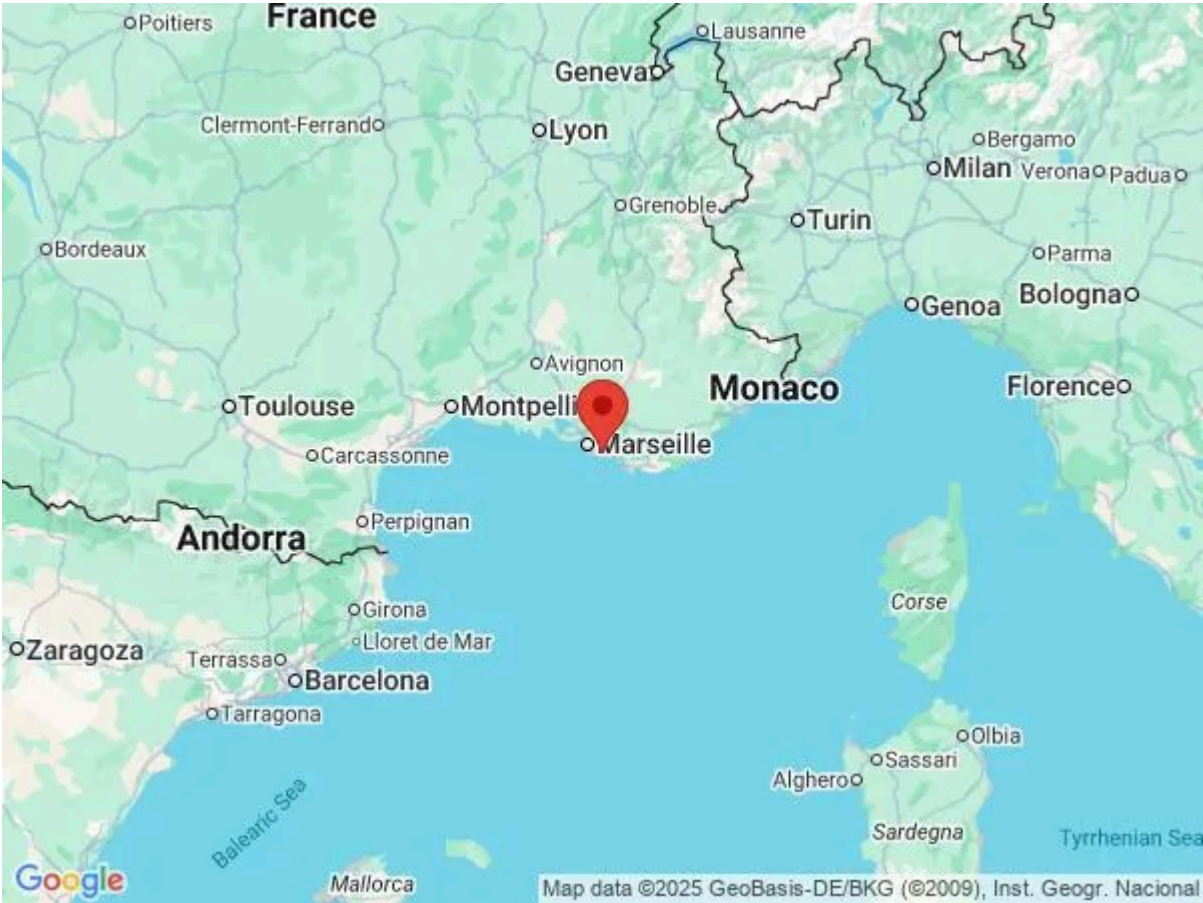

There are a number of beaches in Cassis, including the sweeping Plage de la Grande Mer which is 1.5km away from the villa and smaller more wild bays such as Plage de l'Arène which is 4km away. The area is also famous for the beaches of the Calanques National Park; a Calanques is a tucked away cove which seem to be dramatically cut out of the limestone cliffs. There are a series of these coves, some easier to access than others. The easiest way to visit is by taking a boat from Cassis harbour which takes around 30-minutes to get to the first stop. If you prefer to hike then you can walk to the breathtaking Calanque d'En Vau in around an hour from Port Mio which is a 2.5km drive from the villa, the view as you approach the cove is well worth the walk!

If you wish to see more of the area, then why not visit a vineyard to try some of the local wines. Clos Sainte Magdeleine is just 2km away from the villa and is a coastal vineyard offering tastings of their white and rosé wines as well as tours.

The historic, multicultural port town of Marseille is another brilliant place to visit and is 32km away, while Aix-en-Provence, a paradise for art lovers is 47km away.
