Location & Local Information

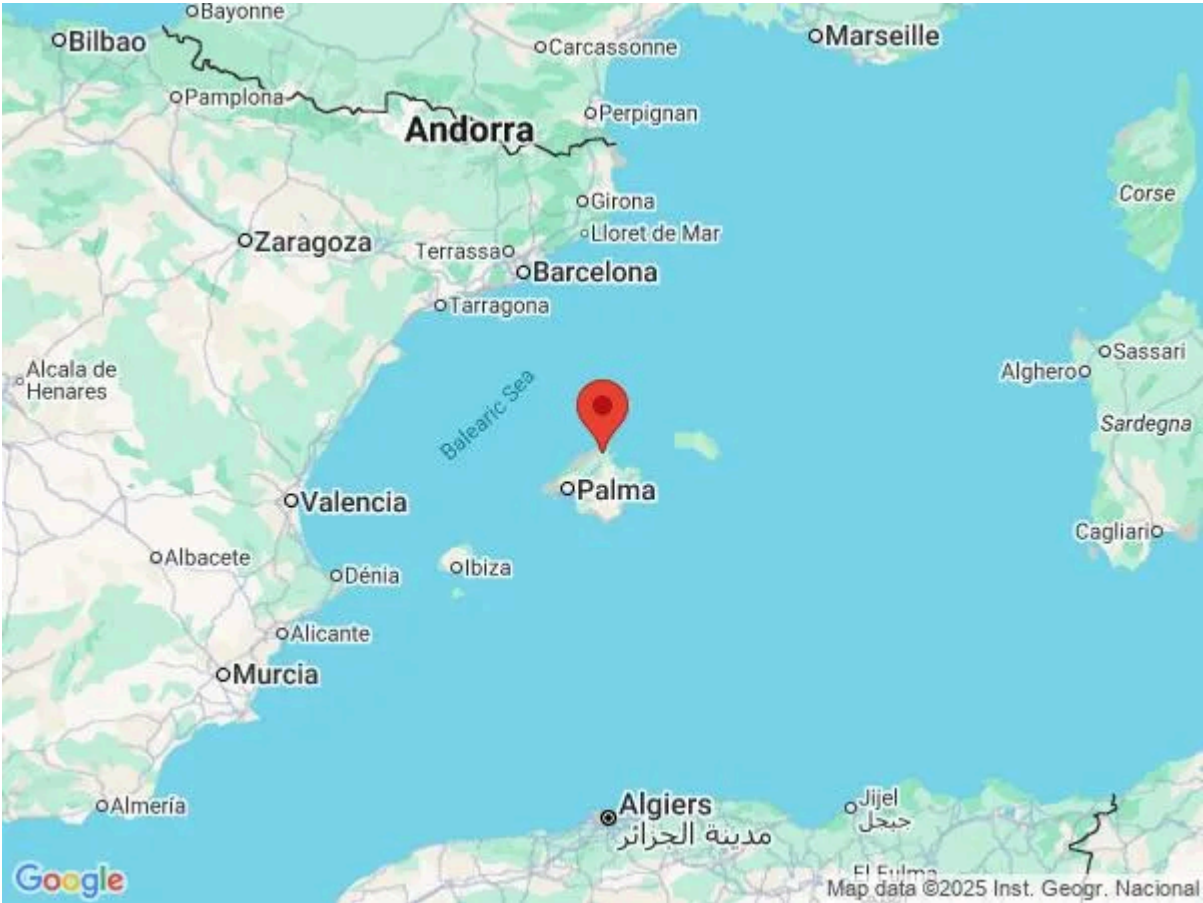

Casa Mastaguera is located in Pollensa, a charming area that has been a popular destination for tourists for many years. Just a short walk from the town centre is Pollensa Market, a bustling weekly event with over 300 stalls. This market offers visitors the chance to shop for a variety of items, including artisan clothes, bags, jewelry, and fresh produce. Guests can pick up fruits and vegetables to use in their cooking back at Casa Mastaguera. The market is open every Wednesday from 8 am to 1:30 pm.

A short 10-minute drive from the town centre leads to the Alzinaret Caves, a prehistoric site dating back to 1600 BC. These caves contain a range of artifacts from the Middle Bronze Age and provide a unique opportunity to explore ancient history. Discovered in 1927 by British archaeologist Wilfred Hemp, one of the caves is named after him, known as Cave Number 7 of Hemp.

For those seeking to relax by the sea, the nearby beaches are perfect for a day out. Puerto Pollensa's beaches are just a short drive away, offering golden sands and clear waters ideal for swimming, sunbathing, or enjoying water sports. After a day at the beach, guests can visit Joan March Gardens, which are just under 10 minutes from the town centre and open 24 hours a day.
