

Villa Pasteur

Region: French Riviera (Cote D'Azur) Sleeps: 10

Overview

Sitting in a leafy spot in the hills looking out over the Gulf of Saint-Tropez is Villa Pasteur. This home is the perfect place to stay for a trip with friends or family and you will find plenty to see and do close by from relaxing on unspoilt beaches to wandering around medieval streets.

The villa is a spacious, five-bedroom home. The living areas are vast and all connect to each other to create a sociable space to gather in the evenings. The living room boasts comfortable sofas and access out on to the garden, while the fully-fitted kitchen and adjoining dining room are ideal for enjoying meals together. If you really wish to unwind and treat yourself then why not book a chef to prepare sumptuous meals for your party.

There are five boutique-style bedrooms; one of these is an expansive master suite with a large private terrace and a chic bathroom, and the other four bedrooms benefit from en-suite bathrooms.

Outside, the garden is a continuation of the living space as there are lots of different areas for sitting and enjoying the sun. There are outdoor armchairs, sun loungers and a stunning al-fresco dining area on the terrace.

As the home shares its management with the nearby exclusive 5* hotel, you will find everything you need on hand from a concierge service and champagne on arrival to buffet breakfasts. Guests may also access the brilliant facilities at the hotel such as the spa, gym and gourmet restaurant.

You will find a wider range of eateries in Saint-Tropez town which is a mere 4km away, meaning you can be tucking in to a croissant and a coffee in a street-side café in no time at all. There is much more to Saint-Tropez however and the town is steeped in history which can be seen as you wander around the narrow, maze-like streets of the old town which was once defended by its medieval citadel.

If you would prefer to get out on to the water then head over to Riviera water sports which is 7km away and offers sailing lessons, kayaking and windsurfing. The water sports centre is located in the unique, canal town of Port-Grimaud which is much like a little Venice on the Riviera and is all connected by boats and is a lovely place to visit for dinner.

Location & Local Information

Located in between the hillside village of Gassin and the glamorous town of Saint-Tropez, Villa Pasteur is a perfect base for exploring more of the French Riviera.

The nearest amenities can be found at the hotel which guests have access to. There you can visit for breakfast or book a table at the fine dining restaurant for the evening. During the day you can make use of the luxury spa and indulge in a massage or a facial before lounging in the relaxation area. There is also a gym and personal trainers available for those who enjoy a workout.

One of the main reasons that people visit this area is to spend time on the beaches along the breath-taking coastline. Some of the closest beaches are under 2km away from the house and one of these is Bouillabaisse beach. The most popular and longest beach in the area is Pampelonne beach which is 8km around the coast and is a lovely place to spend a day.

Aside from its beaches, Saint-Tropez is a great town for a spot of shopping; there are a wide range of shops here from small artisan stores to chic designer boutiques. The town also has some brilliant markets - one of the best is held in the atmospheric Place des Lices on a Tuesday and Saturday and sells fresh herbs, local sausages and cheese and delicious pastries. You will also find clothes markets and fish markets around town.

A lesser-known side to Saint Tropez are its rich historical and cultural attractions; the town is topped by a medieval fortress known as the Citadel and the winding streets of the old town are dotted with historic churches such as the Chappelle Sainte Anne.

Aside from central Saint-Tropez, there are plenty more places you can visit close by. You could head in to the hills to explore the pretty village of Gassin which is 6km away, drive over to Port-Grimaud which is a unique village connected by canals 8km away. The large seaside town of Sainte-Maxime is another great place to visit for the day and is 14km away.
