Overview

Located in the heart of southern France's Provence-Alpes-Côte d'Azur region, Villa Lanvin offers a sublime sanctuary within the bustling city of Cannes.

This stylish holiday home is designed in a neo-Provençal style and has been tastefully renovated to offer every home comfort. It boasts three floors built on an elevated, landscaped garden offering a front-row seat to spectacular sea views of the twinkling Mediterranean coastline below.

In its wonderful simplicity, Villa Lanvin is incredibly striking. Step inside and you will find a bright, open-plan living area and dazzling modern kitchen separated by exquisite marble pillars. A snow-white colour palette features throughout and is offset with neutral furnishings, art-deco fixtures and pops of blue, instantly evoking the feeling of being at the sea. This sublimity continues to the upper floors where you can find four double bedrooms and a children's room, all minimalist yet beautifully decorated. The master suite is truly incredible and has an en-suite bathroom with a free-standing bath alongside a glass shower.

Stepping out to the wonderful decked terrace, it feels like an oasis of calm, a place you can relax away from the hustle and bustle of day-to-day life. There's an outdoor bar and dining area perfect for entertaining and enjoying excellent local cuisine while watching the sun go down, and the many relaxation spots offer a great sense of comfort too. The large swimming pool looks out to the sea and is framed by palm trees making you feel like you're holidaying on a far-away tropical island.

While there's plenty to do and discover in the area, only a 10-minute drive brings you to the centre of Cannes – a resort city with a glitzy character and rustic charm. Here you can wander around the winding streets and paths lined with casinos, restaurants and bars, or cool down in the sea on one of the city's popular sandy beaches.

In 15 minutes by car, you can reach Théoule-sur-Mer, which is tucked away in a small inlet among the rocks of the Esterel Mountains with an array of sandy beaches backed by cliffs, as well as many vantage spots with mesmerising views.

For more buzz and to explore the French Riviera even further, choose Nice or Antibes as your next day trip destination. While both host an array of ambient restaurants, lovely beaches and landmarks to see, they are also suitable for those looking for history and art – and notably Nice has ensnared many visitors with its array of museums such as the Musées Matisse, Chagall and d'Art Moderne – all being a superb reason to justify an aesthetic pilgrimage here.

Location & Local Information

Surrounded by hills sprinkled with verdant greenery, Villa Lanvin is set in a residential area high above the city of Cannes, in a location that is magical and harmonious. Luckily you are in the right place for exploring the stunning French Riviera – a slice of the Mediterranean coast that lures the crowds to its sunny climate, sweeping sandy beaches and resort towns full of timeless character.

As you step outside, you can explore the charming Le Cannet neighbourhood full of amenities that will make your stay more comfortable. The closest restaurant is only a short drive away, while a traditional French patisserie selling flakey pastries and delicious cakes are also within close proximity. When you need to do your grocery shopping, simply hop in the car and drive for 5 minutes to stock up on ingredients. Before you make your way to Cannes, make sure to visit the nearby Musée Bonnard dedicated to French artist Pierre Bonnard set in a Belle Epoque mansion.

If you want to relax on the golf course and meet like-minded enthusiasts, then head to the area around Mougins where you can find many golf clubs, such as the Golf Cannes-Mougins, as well as a golf academy and an array of shops and boutiques selling high-quality gear and clothing.

The historic city centre of Cannes is just a 10-minute drive away, perfect for when you want to laze around in bohemian beach clubs, sip cocktails on modern rooftop bars and explore the first-class dining and shopping scene.

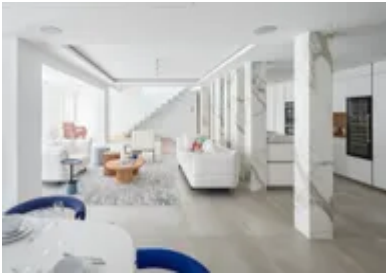

For more low-key hangouts, consider strolling to the port Vieux Port de Cannes, which was built in the 1950s, where you can admire yachts and watch people come and go. Or, stock up on local delicacies in the indoor market Marché Forville – think fresh seafood, fruit and artisan pastries and cheese. On a sunny day, why not rent a sun bed and soak up the glorious weather on the public beach Croisette Beach Cannes backed by restaurants? Nearby, you can find a pontoon path, Corniche du Mouré Rouge, great for cycling and taking in the views of the Lerins Islands.

A bit further away, you can find the historic port city of Antibes. Before heading to the museum devoted to Picasso's work, walk to the Old Town surrounded by thick 16th-century ramparts and walk along the stone walls as waves crash against them. There's also an archaeological museum with Roman artefacts from as early as the 7th century, and plenty of cafés, bars and squares where you can watch the world go by.

The French Riviera's famous beaches are right at your doorstep, so consider visiting at least some of the best ones on your trip. Notably, Plage des Marinières is set in the sweeping natural elegance of Villefranche-sur-Mer's deepwater harbour, while Plage de la Mala in Cap-d'Ail can be reached by a magical coastal path through fragrant pine trees and limestone cliffs.
