Beyond skiing and snowboarding, activities such as snowshoeing, cross-country skiing, paragliding, horse-drawn carriage rides, and wellness retreats are all available. In summer, mountain biking, hiking, and via ferrata provide further adventure.

Built in classic Savoyard style, the chalet blends rustic character with modern comforts. Inside, wood-clad interiors create a welcoming atmosphere, enhanced by an indoor hot tub, sauna, and a crackling fireplace. The lower ground floor houses the wellness facilities and three double bedrooms, each with an en-suite shower room, alongside an additional shared shower room.

The ground floor offers a spacious living room with access to a south-facing balcony, a contemporary fireplace, and a television. A dedicated dining room and a well-equipped kitchen ensure comfort for self-catered stays. A practical ski and boot room completes the floor.

Upstairs, two twin bedrooms are complemented by a shared shower room, with one bedroom featuring its own balcony to take in the Alpine views.

Méribel boasts 150km of pistes and, as part of the Three Valleys, access to an impressive 600km of ski runs. Famed for its authentic Alpine charm, it combines traditional architecture with modern amenities including an Olympic sports complex, swimming pool, climbing wall, ice rink, and spa. Mottaret offers excellent access to the Three Valleys, with recent enhancements including a new children's area, night skiing, and an upgraded lift system. The Coombes chair provides quicker access to Courchevel than starting in Courchevel itself, and Val Thorens is reachable via just two lifts and a short blue run. Mottaret's altitude of 1,750 metres ensures reliable snow conditions, alongside a range of bars, shops, and restaurants.

A bus from outside the chalet links to La Chaudanne and Méribel's lively centre, home to a cinema, spa, boutique shops, ski hire outlets, and nightlife. The Olympic Centre hosts major events, offering an ice rink, climbing wall, bowling alley, pool, and spa. Ski schools, creche facilities, and the Piou-Piou club are also located here.

Founded by Scotsman Peter Lindsay before World War II, Méribel blends Alpine charm with modern infrastructure. It offers 150km of pistes and easy access to the wider Three Valleys' 600km network. The skiing caters to all levels, from gentle greens to challenging blacks, with snow parks, freestyle zones, and off-piste activities enhancing its appeal.
