Location & Local Information

Finca Montesion is located around 15 minutes from the centre of Pollensa, a region full of charm and charisma. For those travelling to this area in November, you must take the time to explore La Fira. This authentic trade fair has been a key part of the local culture since 1748, showcasing its influence over the native customs seen today. Guests are encouraged to explore every aspect of this festival, browsing through many stalls and purchasing woven goods such as bags and hats. This is a fantastic attraction for anyone looking to delve deeper into this region's alluring past. La Fira usually takes place on the second Sunday in November until the following Tuesday.

Alzinet Caves are a genuinely fascinating landmark and can be found around 20 minutes away from Finca Montesion. These caves were first discovered by British archaeologist Wilfred Hemp in 1927, but experts believe that these structures date back to 1600 BC. Thus, guests are free to explore these immense attractions at their own pace, marvelling at an array of artefacts from the Middle Bronze Age as they travel through. As such, this is an ideal landmark to visit if you are eager to explore this region from an entirely new perspective. For guests who are uncomfortable travelling inside, a collection of benches can be found outside the structures.

Pollensa Museum is a deeply popular attraction and is best recognised for hosting the impeccable works of Attilio Boveri. Despite its current influence over the European contemporary art scene, it was once used as a storage unit for a wealth of ornate Gothic altarpieces. These items were incredibly well regarded and even received praise at the affluent Summer Exhibition of Painting in the 1960s. This establishment is known for its diverse portfolio of works and has become a significant cultural monument throughout this area. A bonus is that it is free to enter for all guests, making it an unmissable attraction for those travelling on a budget. Pollensa Museum is based just 10 minutes away from the villa.
