Location & Local Information

Villa Platani A is ideally situated on one of Capri's most famous cliffsides, soaring above the Tyrrhenian Sea and only a few minutes' walk (aided by the private funicular) to Capri's iconic main square - the Piazzetta. From here you can continue all via Vittorio Emanuele toward the Grand Hotel Quisisana and via Camerelle – a street renowned for its high-end boutiques.

Access to the beach from the villa is very easy, with Marina Piccola (4-minute drive) and its famous beach club La Fontelina close at hand. Overlooking the beach are the Gardens of Augustus: a fantastically flowery perch from which to view the Faraglioni rock formations.

Perhaps the best way of exploring the island of Capri is by stepping off the island itself and circumnavigating its coastline of caves, coves, and inlets by renting a canoe, kayak, stand-up paddle board, or boat. Via this medium you'll be able to discover a great many spots that would be difficult to reach otherwise (and thereby less crowded!).

If you prefer to keep your feet dry, Capri's stunning elevated vistas make it a hiker's paradise. The Passetiello is a wonderful circular route that starts in Anacapri and traverses through woods, and past famous villas such as San Michele and Scala Fenicia on its way up to the summit of Monte Solaro. Another hiking trail worth checking out takes you around the island's ancient defences, along 19th century walkways and to the Punta Carena lighthouse. Of course if hiking isn't your fancy, you can always take the chairlift from the main square of Anacapri to the summit of Monte Solaro.

Capri's heritage is hard to ignore, and thanks to its intrigue and beauty, you won't want to. An hour's uphill climb from the centre of Capri town along the slopes of Mount Tiberius will bring you to the remains of Villa Jovis – the Capri residence of Roman Emperor Tiberius.

Please note Villa Platani A is located on the island of Capri, reached via ferry services from Naples and Sorrento.
