This charming, two bedroom retreat is set within a modern resort, yet embraces the traditional Pelion style, incorporating local handicrafts, stained glass windows, and wall art, creating a warm and welcoming ambience rather than a stark holiday letting.

Perfect for families or two couples, the villa comfortably accommodates five to six guests if you make use of the sofa bed. The heart of the home is the spacious living room adorned with armchairs and a sofa where guests can spend time together in the evenings watching films or playing board games. This communal space seamlessly extends to a sun-drenched terrace, providing an inviting outdoor oasis for your party. The living area also features a dining table for six and a well-equipped kitchen, creating an ideal setting for shared meals and snacks. A practical shower room on this floor adds convenience to the space. Ascending to the first floor, guests will find two generously sized double bedrooms, serviced by a larger bathroom with a bath. This floor opens onto a delightful balcony, allowing occupants to enjoy the surrounding beauty as soon as you wake up.

As Villa Everly is part of a resort, you have everything you could possibly wish for within walking distance of the home. There are three eateries here including a sumptuous sea view restaurant, access to a stunning and sheltered beach and even communal pools. Adults and kids alike can also take part in endless sports and activities from dance classes to mini golf, whatever your age or interest you will find something to keep you busy.

Exploring beyond the villa, the charming fishing village of Horto and the nearby town of Milina await exploration, offering a variety of shops, restaurants, and cafes. You can also reach a range of pristine beaches in the vicinity which promise moments of serenity and relaxation.
