

Trullo Libelli

Region: Puglia Sleeps: 7

Overview

Hear the sound of birds singing and wind rustling through century-old olive trees as you relax on your stone terrace beside the swimming pool soaking up the natural surroundings of Trullo Libelli, only 1.5km from the heart of Ceglie Messapica.

With origins dating back to the mid-19th century, this rustic home has undergone an impressive restoration in recent years and now welcomes up to 7 guests to stay across its four bedrooms. Trullo Libelli is perfect for a small group of friends or a family wishing to experience authentic and simple life in Puglia with the benefit of a gorgeous private swimming pool, close to some of the region's most visited destinations.

Every care has been taken when restoring this historic home – original features have been preserved where possible and materials have been sensitively chosen. Air-conditioned bedrooms are simple yet pretty, bath/shower rooms are modern and the sense of Apulian character is strong. We especially love the gorgeous little living-dining area and the archways leading to the open fireplace.

Embrace the traditional way of life as you enjoy meals together prepared in the charming kitchen or barbecues al-fresco on the terrace. Outside, experience the everchanging scenes of the season from spring flowers to autumn fruit and red-hued leaves from the many trees across the grounds.

You are just a short drive from Ceglie Messapica with its historic centre, Baroque architecture, narrow lanes, old houses and gastronomic gems. The town has gained quite a reputation for its food and wine – look out for homemade pasta and delicious biscuits, both local specialities.

Meanwhile, this is the perfect base for exploring further afield from the iconic trulli of Alberobello and the charm of Martina Franca to white-washed Ostuni, known as La Città Bianca, just a 15-minute drive from your delightful Puglian holiday home.

Location & Local Information

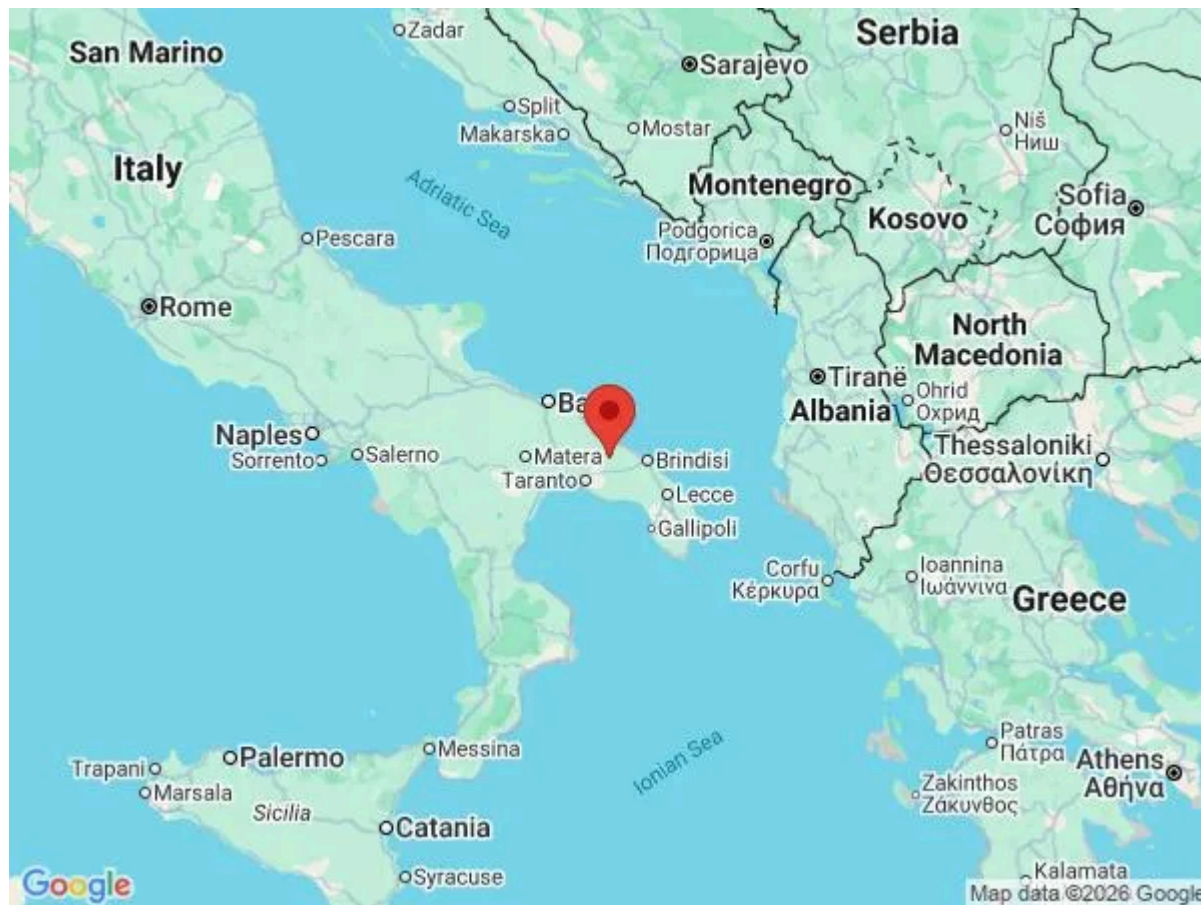

In natural surroundings yet only a 1.5km drive from the historic heart of Ceglie Messapica, Trullo Libelli is a fantastic base for exploring the many gems of Puglia as well as the Adriatic coast. Brindisi Airport is only 40km away and the nearest train station is in Ceglie Messapica itself.

Fall in love with the authenticity of Ceglie Messapica, a well-preserved town which has gained a fine reputation for its cuisine in recent years. Explore the old quarter as you admire its Baroque architecture and narrow, steep lanes. Come across historic treasures, traditional bakeries and restaurants serving local food (the town produces speciality biscuits, homemade pasta and good olive oil).

It's a fairly direct drive to the centre of Ostuni (12km), known as La Citta Bianca with its white-washed houses and medieval character. It is such a stunning town with a rich history, surrounded by endless olive groves and typical landscapes of Puglia. The Gothic cathedral is magnificent, its medieval centre is enchanting and the views are memorable.

There are many other wonderful towns across the region. Picturesque Cisternino (16km) is loved for its fornelli where grilled meat is prepared in front of you, whilst Martina Franca (19km) is a joy to explore with its Baroque architecture. Meanwhile, Alberobello (35km) is one of the region's most iconic villages with its UNESCO listed trulli.

For a day by the sea, drive to the Adriatic coast - Marina di Ostuni is less than half an hour by car or discover the wild shoreline around the Natural Reserve of Torre Guaceto with beaches backed by sand dunes.
