Location & Local Information

Villa Edonia is located on the western coast of Brac, in the peaceful outskirts of Sutivan - just under a ten-minute stroll from the nearest beach and around two kilometres from the centre of town. Sutivan itself is a low-key coastal village, ideal for those who prefer laid-back days with easy access to cafes, restaurants, and a few handy shops, including a local supermarket.

The island of Brac is one of Croatia's most accessible and characterful destinations, reachable via ferry from Split in under an hour. It's best known for its clear waters, traditional stone villages, and the dramatic Zlatni Rat beach near Bol. But beyond its iconic coastline, Brac offers olive groves, walking trails, and quiet coves that reward those willing to explore. Villa Edonia makes a great base whether you're planning lazy beach days, day trips across the island, or simply staying put and soaking in the sun.

What we love

- The location - just minutes from the beach and a short hop into Sutivan's centre for local eats and essentials.
- The outdoor setup is spot-on for relaxed summer living, with a heated pool, shaded dining, and a summer kitchen ideal for barbecue nights.
- Smart features throughout - from Starlink internet and Netflix to underfloor heating - make the villa just as comfy in cooler months.
- If you are a larger group, Villa Giani (https://www.oliverstravels.com/croatia/dalmatian-islands/brac/villa-giani/?base_capacity=&geocodes=415¤cy=gbp) is located next door and they can be rented together!

What you should know...

- While the villa sleeps up to 8, two guests will be using the sofa bed in one of the bedrooms - ideal for kids or teens rather than adults.
- The villa is located about 2km from the centre of Sutivan; a hire car might be handy for getting around the island.
- The pool is un-fenced, so younger children will need supervision when playing outside.
- An EV charger is available, but usage may need to be arranged in advance - check with the owner before arrival.
