Location & Local Information

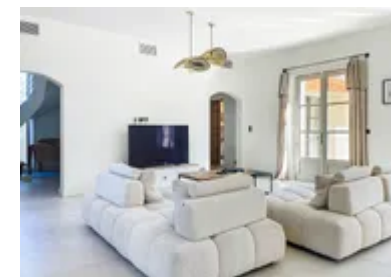

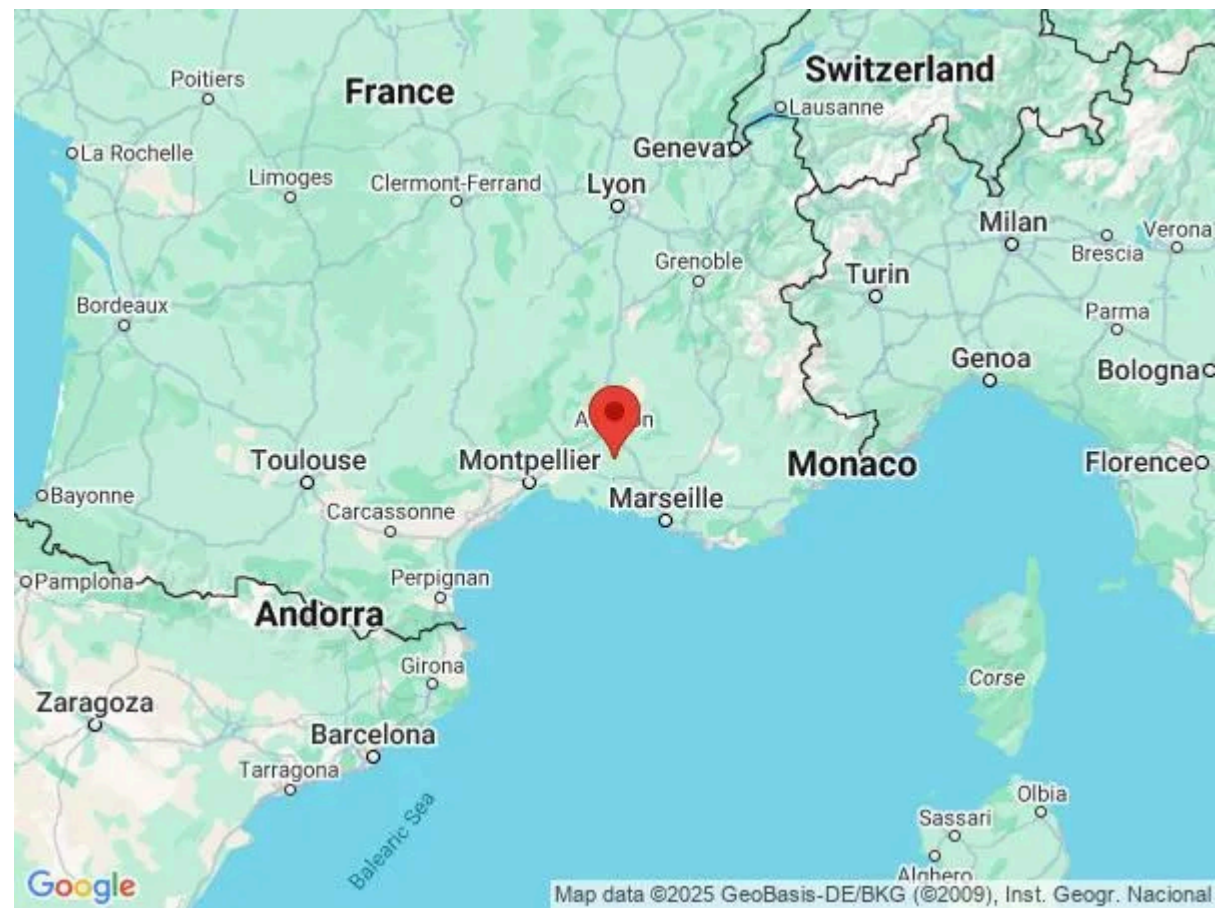

Less than half an hour south of Avignon, Saint-Rémy-de-Provence exudes timeless charm and authenticity. La Belle Saison is located on the edge of the town, around 1km from the historic centre along a country road (no pavement).

Cobblestone streets wind through Saint-Rémy's honey-hued facades, where artisan boutiques and leafy cafés invite you to savour the art of living. Famed as the birthplace of Nostradamus and beloved by Van Gogh, whose vivid landscapes were inspired by the surrounding vistas, Saint-Rémy blends artistic heritage with a laid-back, sun-soaked atmosphere. The ancient Roman site of Glanum sits just on the edge of town, while the nearby Monastery of Saint-Paul de Mausole offers an intimate look at Van Gogh's time in Provence.

The surrounding landscapes of Les Alpilles are a natural playground for those seeking adventure or serenity. Hike along scenic trails shaded by pine forests and dotted with wild herbs, or cycle past olive groves and vineyards that shimmer in the golden light. Horse riding, rock climbing, and even paragliding provide exhilarating ways to experience the rugged beauty of this protected regional park.

Just a short drive away, the hilltop village of Eygalières (13km) enchants with its tranquil rhythm and spectacular views. Lose yourself among its narrow lanes, ancient stone houses, and weekly farmers' market bursting with local produce. Further south, Les Baux-de-Provence (10km) rises dramatically from a rocky outcrop, offering panoramic views and the chance to explore its medieval castle ruins. Don't miss the immersive art experience at Carrières des Lumières (8.5km), where masterpieces are projected onto the cavernous limestone walls of a former quarry.

For a more pastoral pace, Maussane-les-Alpilles (10.5km) offers olive oil tastings at local mills and delightful village restaurants under the plane trees. Venture a little further to artistic Arles (24km), rich in Roman sites, art galleries and Provençal flair. From here, the untamed wilderness of the Camargue unfolds—home to wild white horses, pink flamingos, and endless salt marshes.

Round off your Provençal escape with a day trip to Avignon (22km). Walk across the iconic Pont Saint-Bénézet, explore the towering Papal Palace, and soak in the city’s vibrant blend of medieval history and cosmopolitan energy.
