Location & Local Information

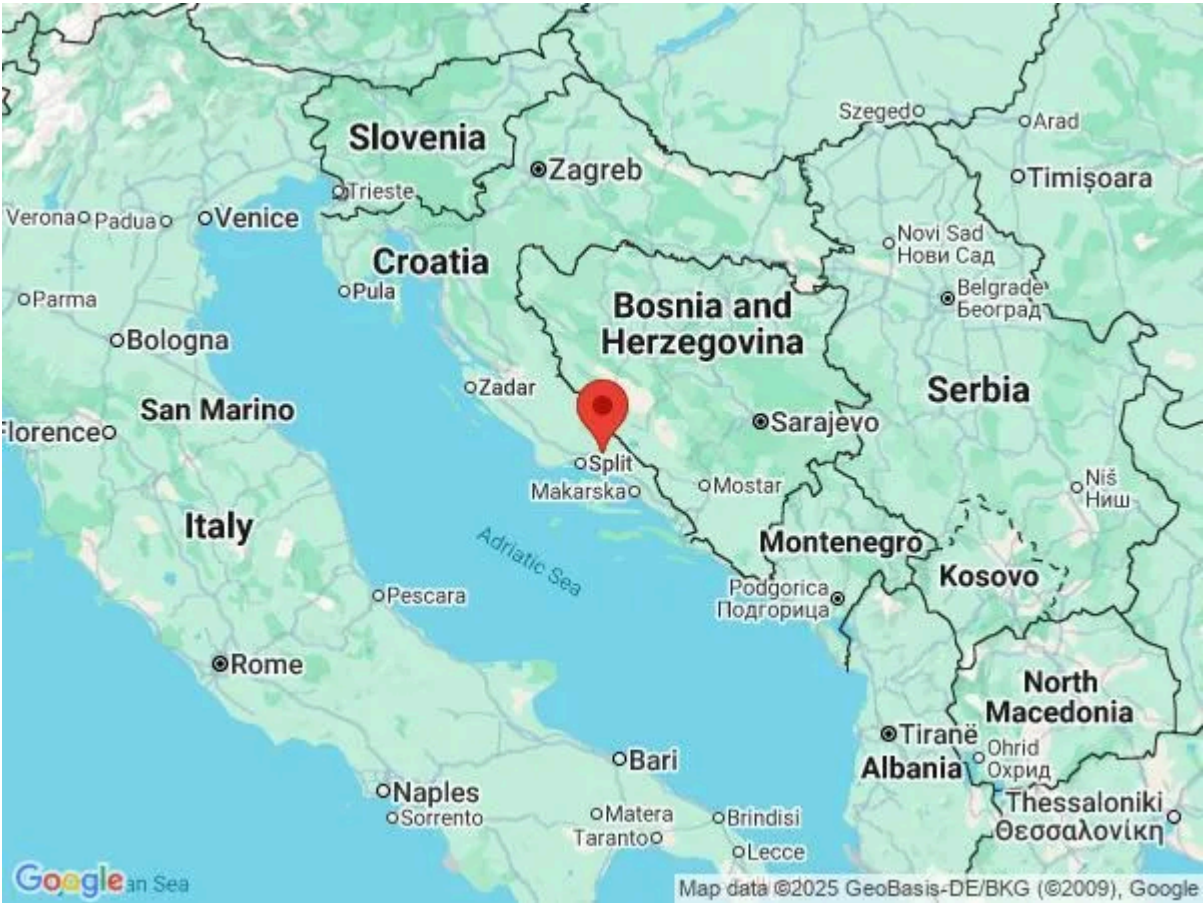

Villa Adrielle is set near the peaceful village of Bisko, nestled in the Dalmatian hinterland around twenty-eight kilometres from the lively city of Split. It's a setting that strikes a balance between the privacy of a countryside stay and convenient access to Croatia's cultural and coastal treasures.

The surrounding area is excellent for those who enjoy the outdoors - you'll find walking and cycling trails in the nearby hills, and the Cetina River, known for rafting and canyoning, is just a short drive away. For a taste of local life, the small towns and family-run taverns scattered through the region offer hearty cuisine and a warm welcome.

A day trip to Split is rewarded with the UNESCO-listed Diocletian's Palace, bustling markets, and the Riva promenade lined with cafes and bars. For beach days, head to the shores of Podstrana or the Makarska Riviera - both reachable within 45 minutes. Whether you're after active adventures, quiet nature, or a dose of Dalmatian culture, Villa Adrielle makes a great base to explore it all.

What we love

- The balance of style and space – the villa's sleek interiors and airy layout make it as comfortable as it is contemporary.
- The private football pitch and table tennis – perfect for keeping kids (and competitive adults) entertained from morning to night.
- The peaceful countryside setting – offering total tranquillity while being just a short drive from Split's energy and coastline.

What you should know...

- The villa is located in a rural setting – peaceful and private, but car hire is recommended for exploring the area and reaching Split.
- The pool is heated, but temperature can vary slightly depending on weather conditions, especially in early or late season.
- While the villa is fully detached, neighbouring homes are dotted throughout the area, so it's not completely remote.
