Overview

Maison Ecuyere offers a sociable retreat a short walk from the heart of La Bois Plage en Ré. This expansive villa, discreetly hidden behind its gates, is a celebration of light, calm and conviviality. Sunlight pours through large windows into the beautifully curated living and dining space where soft neutrals, wooden textures and bespoke furnishings create a refined, island-inspired atmosphere.

Indeed, the home unfolds across 300 square metres of thoughtfully designed interiors. The large living area flows seamlessly into the open-plan dining area and stylish kitchen, fully equipped for family feasts or lazy breakfasts. Six gorgeous bedrooms, including a children's bedroom with table football, cater comfortably to groups of up to 14. Other impressive features include two TV lounges (one on each floor) and reversible air-conditioning on the first-floor. Every element, from the Thermomix and Nespresso maker in the kitchen to satellite TV and Bluetooth speakers, has been considered for comfort and style.

Outside, the courtyard-style garden is entirely enclosed and feels wonderfully private. The wooden terrace links indoors and out with ease, creating a true "inside-out" lifestyle. Cool off in the heated pool, linger over lunch on the shaded patio or rally for ping pong in the afternoon sun. In the evenings, the plancha grill invites relaxed al-fresco dining.

Perfectly positioned to explore the island, the villa sits within a 15-minute walk of La Bois Plage en Ré's daily market, bursting with fresh produce, artisanal finds and island delicacies. The nearby cycling trail leads directly to the beaches, while Saint-Martin-de-Ré and La Couarde are just minutes away, making it easy to discover charming harbours, boutiques and waterside restaurants.

Location & Local Information

Bask in the authentic beauty of Île de Ré, a captivating island off France's Atlantic coast, where pretty villages, superb beaches and sea breezes await. Connected to the mainland by a sweeping bridge from La Rochelle, this idyllic destination blends coastal charm with island life, perfect for those seeking rest and exploration. Whether wandering cobbled streets or coasting along long cycle paths, every moment here feels unhurried and wonderful.

Maison Ecuyere is located on the edge of Le Bois-Plage-en-Ré – its vibrant daily market is only a 15-minute stroll away, the largest and liveliest market on the island. Le Bois-Plage-en-Ré also offers a delightful mix of little shops and cafés that spill onto sunny terraces. To the south of the village, its long, sandy beaches stretch along the southern coast, ideal for sunbathing, beach games and watersports.

Over in La Couarde-sur-Mer (4.5km), quieter shores beckon, backed by dunes and maritime pines, while the town itself enchants with whitewashed houses and climbing hollyhocks lining its peaceful lanes.

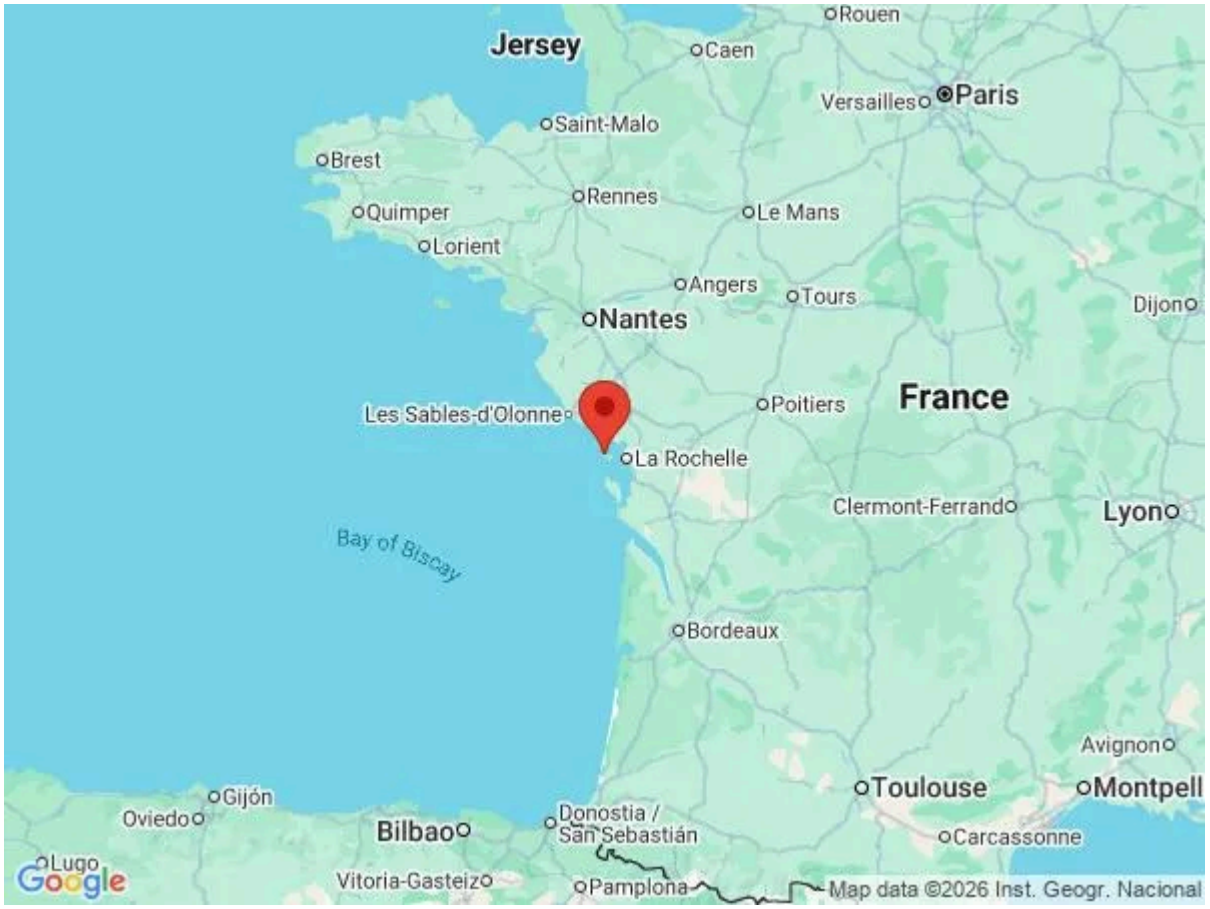

For a taste of Île de Ré's heritage, head to Saint-Martin-de-Ré (2.5km). A UNESCO-listed port town surrounded by Vauban's star-shaped fortifications, it charms with its yacht-filled marina, fine restaurants and atmospheric old town. Climb the bell tower for panoramic views, or browse artisan shops tucked within the winding alleyways.

Cycling is the heart of Ré life, and over 100km of flat paths weave through vines, salt marshes and along the coast, making every journey as joyful as the destination. Outdoor enthusiasts can also enjoy sailing, paddleboarding, windsurfing or kitesurfing in the bays or open sea. Golfers will appreciate the scenic nine-hole course near Trousse-Chemise, set between forest and beach with unforgettable ocean views.

Just across the bridge, the historic city of La Rochelle makes for a rewarding day trip. Stroll the old port lined with medieval towers, explore the lively market, or enjoy a seafood lunch overlooking the harbour, before returning to the very best of French island life.
