Finca Galdana

Region: Menorca Sleeps: 12

Overview

As you pass beneath the cypress trees and through the gates of Finca Galdana, time begins to slow. There's a quiet grandeur in its whitewashed façade and arched stonework, softened by tumbling bougainvillaea and olive trees that have stood for generations. This former 18th-century residence feels like a sanctuary, where centuries-old architecture meets the comforts of a refined and restful retreat.

Step through the arched doorway and you're welcomed into a cool, elegant interior of vaulted ceilings, creamy stone floors and soft, earthy textures. Every detail feels intentional, from the handcrafted wooden benches to the sculptural ceramics that echo the island's artistic spirit. A reading nook tucked under ancient stonework invites quiet reflection, while light filters gently through the sash windows of the summer lounge. The finca offers six beautiful bedrooms across two floors, all with air conditioning and crisp linens.

Outside, stone terraces lead to herb gardens, secluded corners and a saltwater pool that glistens in the Menorcan sun. Dine beneath pergolas, sip something cool from the outdoor bar or unwind in the massage room, surrounded by silence broken only by the breeze through the trees. Cala Mitjana, one of the island's most unspoilt beaches, lies just over a mile away, reachable by a private path through the 108-hectare estate.
