Overview

A tree-lined driveway leads through the private grounds, where surrounding vineyards stretch out beneath the southern sun and a gentle river glides past ancient woodland. Pierremorte stands proudly at the heart of this natural landscape, a traditional country house brought to life through a sensitive renovation that honours its historic character while offering the comfort of modern living.

Step inside to discover a home of scale and substance, arranged across four floors with beamed ceilings, exposed stone walls and time-worn tiles underfoot. The interiors feel both generous and intimate, from the sweeping, double-height living space with open fireplace to quiet corners perfect for reading or conversation. The semi-professional kitchen opens onto a breakfast terrace, while the conservatory leads to the swimming pool. Each of the six bedrooms has its own distinct charm, with two elegant master suites providing indulgent space to retreat and relax.

Outside, the setting is nothing short of enchanting. Wander across the grass, admire the woodland and river, then gather for long lunches on the terrace or friendly games of boules. The private infinity pool stretches 13 metres, edged by loungers and raised patios in a characterful setting.

Pierremorte lies just five minutes by car from bustling Saint-Chinian, home to wine domaines, shops, a twice-weekly market and lively café terraces. The Mediterranean coast is just 40 minutes away for beach days, while the wild beauty of the Gorges d'Héric and medieval Carcassonne offer rich days out in every direction.

Pierremorte invites you to slow the pace and savour the rhythm of the Hérault countryside accompanied by good wine and wonderful nature.
