

L'Ecurie

Region: Languedoc Sleeps: 12

Overview

Beyond the stone walls of Saint-Marcel-sur-Aude, L'Ecurie reveals itself as a masterful reimagining of an 18th-century barn, where character and charm meets modern architectural flair. Thoughtfully designed and impeccably restored, this superb village home offers a spacious escape just half an hour from the Mediterranean coast.

At its heart, a vast open-plan living space stretches across 90 square metres, framed by soaring ceilings, exposed stone and large glass doors. These open directly onto the terrace overlooking the swimming pool below, where days unfold between leisurely swims and al-fresco feasts. The open kitchen is superbly equipped for entertaining, with a range oven, wine fridge and a sleek central island for casual breakfasts or sunset apéritifs. Each of the five bedrooms has its own charm, including a family room with a mezzanine level and a master bedroom with its porthole window and a beautifully appointed ensuite.

Outside, admire the Mediterranean garden, dotted with flowers, herbs and a central olive tree. The 11-metre infinity pool glistens beneath the southern sun, flanked by a summer kitchen with bar stools, pizza oven and barbecue, ideal for long lunches or evening gatherings under the stars. Children can paddle on the pool's gentle steps or unwind in the shade in a characterful corner of the garden.

L'Ecurie's location invites guests to explore the charm of local life. Just a short stroll away lies the village centre, with its bakery, wine outlets, café-bars and an excellent restaurant. A little further afield, the historic town of Narbonne offers bustling markets and cultural sights, while the Canal du Midi's atmospheric restaurants at Le Somail are only 3km away. The beaches of Gruissan, Narbonne-Plage and Saint-Pierre beckon just half an hour from the door.

Whether you're sipping wine beside the olive tree or exploring Carcassonne, Cathar castles and coastal villages, L'Ecurie promises a stay full of warmth, space and effortless southern French living.
