Location & Local Information

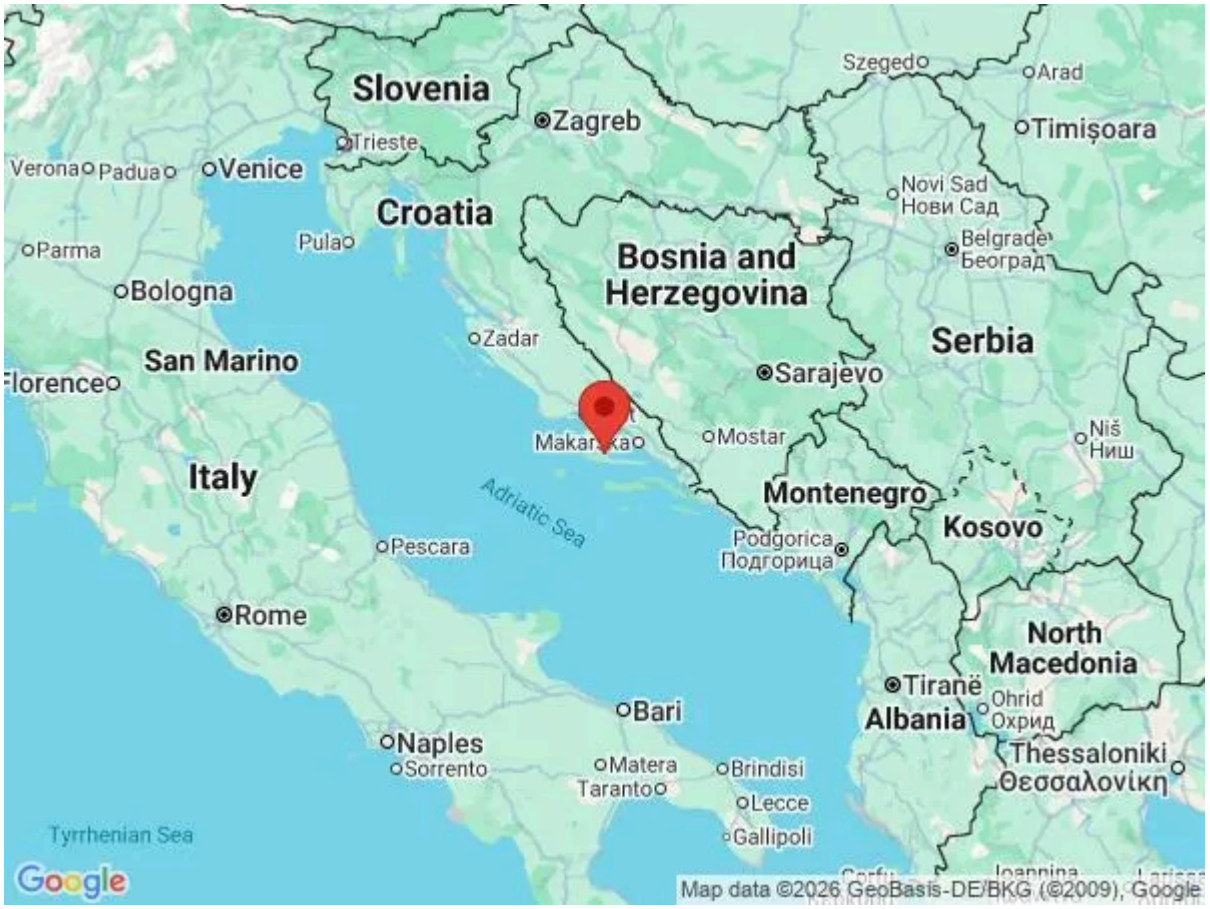

Villa Blue Ember sits above Basina Bay, a tiny hamlet of scattered seaside homes, pine woods and clear, sheltered coves. The nearest beaches are a short walk away, shaped from smooth rock shelves and small pebble inlets, and the bay is ideal for swimming, kayaking and windsurfing when the mistral breezes arrive.

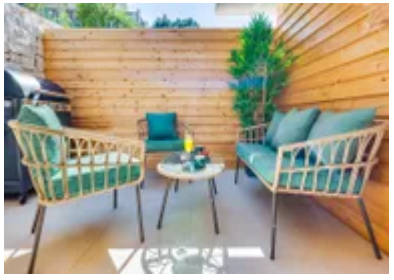

A short drive brings you to Vrboska, a former fishing harbour nicknamed “Little Venice” for its canal and stone bridges, and home to the 16th-century fortified Church of St Mary. Inland, vineyards and olive groves spread across the UNESCO-listed Stari Grad Plain, an ancient Greek agricultural landscape that still underpins Hvar’s wine and olive-oil traditions.

Jelsa is also close by for everyday supplies and a lively harbour promenade, plus boat trips, cycling routes and coastal walks linking hidden coves along the north sho

What we love

- The villa comes with two standout pools: a heated indoor overflow pool for year-round dips, and a chic outdoor lap pool for sun-drenched swims overlooking the Adriatic.
- Wrapped in floor-to-ceiling glass, the villa is built to maximise Adriatic views from the main living areas through to every bedroom terrace.
- Peaceful Basina Bay feels wonderfully tucked away, yet you're close to Hvar's loveliest harbour towns: Jelsa and Vrboska for markets and evening promenades, with Hvar Town an easy drive when you fancy extra buzz.

What you should know...

- The outdoor pool is saltwater, which some guests prefer for being gentler on skin, but it may sting sensitive eyes.
- The main living space is on the first floor, so you'll need to climb a number of stairs from the parking level to reach the kitchen/lounge and main terrace, so the villa may not be suitable for those with limited mobility
- The nearest swimming spots are natural coves with a mix of rock platforms and pebble inlets, so water shoes can be useful for comfortable entry.
