Overview

Built in 1937 and recently reimagined with a vibrant Palm Springs aesthetic, Verde Oasis is a classic Spanish style estate where Old Hollywood glamour is thoughtfully preserved. Set behind tall iron gates and manicured hedges on three quarters of an acre, the home is said to have once welcomed Bette Davis as a regular guest, her portrait still gracing the elegant deco inspired walk in bar known as Bette's Bar. Five luxurious bedroom suites, each with direct bathroom access, offer plush king and queen beds, hotel quality linens, televisions, and carefully considered amenities that allow every guest to feel entirely at home. A fully equipped Spanish style kitchen with double sink, stainless steel fridge, coffee station and breakfast nook flows seamlessly into light filled living and dining spaces, where floor to ceiling glass doors reveal the covered patio beyond. Inside, a pool table, record player with Bluetooth connectivity, and generous lounge seating create an atmosphere that is both sophisticated and inviting.

Outdoors, the estate unfolds into a private desert sanctuary framed by mountain views. A fully tiled and heated 1930s style swimming pool, hot tub, striped cabana, and ample sun loungers evoke timeless elegance, while a gazebo with fire pit, outdoor kitchen with grill and fridge, and dining for twelve encourage long evenings under the stars. A koi pond with waterfall, citrus grove, giant chess set, 60 foot bocce court, and lawn games add playful touches throughout the expansive grounds. The detached casita provides additional privacy with its own kitchenette and patio. A fully equipped gym, yoga studio, EV charger, and complete privacy across the entire property ensure every modern comfort is effortlessly enjoyed at Verde Oasis.
