Location & Local Information

Villa Falisca lies in the countryside of Lazio's Tuscia region, around 6 km from the historic town of Sutri and approximately 45 km from Rome. Surrounded by vineyards, woodland and gently rolling landscapes, the estate offers a peaceful base for exploring one of central Italy's lesser-known cultural regions.

Sutri is best known for its impressive archaeological park, where visitors can discover a Roman amphitheatre carved into volcanic rock, an ancient necropolis and a former Mithraeum. Nearby, guests can visit the Renaissance Palazzo Farnese and its gardens in Caprarola, or spend a day exploring the lakeside towns and watersports of Lake Bracciano.

Closer to the villa, local restaurants, cafés and supermarkets can be found within approximately 5 to 6 km. Golf, horse riding, wine tasting and tennis are also available nearby, while Rome remains within reach for day trips.

- Sutri, Lake Bracciano, Caprarola and Rome are all within reach for rewarding day trips

What you should know...

- Villa Falisca consists of two separate, self-contained villas rather than one connected house
- The swimming pools are not fenced, and there is also an ornamental pond and small farm within the grounds, so children should be supervised closely throughout the property.
- An internal spiral staircase connects parts of Villa Falisca, so guests should take extra care when using it, particularly those travelling with young children.
- Animals live within the grounds, including hens, rabbits, sheep, goats, piglets, dogs and cats
- The owners may occasionally be present on the property as they have access to a separate family residence on the estate
- Security cameras are installed in and around parts of the property to ensure guest safety.
