

Le Jardin des Alpilles

Region: Provence-Alpes Sleeps: 12

Overview

Olive trees and pines ripple in the warm Provençal breeze as Les Alpilles rise gently beyond the garden, creating a setting that feels both expansive and deeply restful. Le Jardin des Alpilles is a treasured family estate in the heart of Provence, a place where history, nature and the rhythms of southern French life come together across three hectares of beautifully cultivated grounds, just a short drive from Saint-Rémy.

At the centre of the estate stands an authentic 18th century Provençal mas that has belonged to the same family since 1792. The house unfolds across two floors with interiors that honour traditional regional character. Terracotta tiled floors, exposed beams and pretty windows fill the main dining room with light, while classic Provençal furnishings create a warm and welcoming atmosphere for long shared meals. The living room/library opens directly onto the garden and a historic double kitchen tells the story of a house designed for generous gatherings. Equipped for preparing meals for large groups, it combines traditional elements including a working fireplace with a roasting spit and modern updates completed in recent years.

Six bedrooms, most with air-conditioning, provide flexible accommodation for families and groups, including inviting rooms with garden views and a spacious upper level bedroom designed for children and teenagers. The layout allows both privacy and togetherness, making the house well suited to multi-generational holidays or relaxed stays with friends.

Outside, the gardens are the true soul of the estate. Featured in specialist garden books, they weave together olive groves, pine woodland and cypress hedges with lawns, ornamental ponds, fountains and vibrant flower beds. Hundreds of plant species flourish here, carefully maintained throughout the year. Pathways lead directly from the property into the Alpilles hills, perfect for quiet morning walks, and Le Canal des Alpines borders the property.

Life naturally gathers outdoors during the summer months. Beneath a Camargue reed pergola, a long terrace table hosts leisurely lunches and evening feasts accompanied by the sound of cicadas. A short stroll away, the 15m swimming pool is surrounded by lawns and accompanied by sun loungers, creating a stunning space to cool off beneath the Provençal sun.

The house enjoys a wonderful setting between Saint Étienne du Grès and Saint Rémy de Provence, one of the most celebrated towns in the region. Saint Rémy is known for its lively markets, excellent restaurants and Van Gogh heritage. The perched village of Les Baux de Provence, the historic streets of Arles and the cultural treasures of Avignon are all within easy reach, making this home an ideal base for exploring the very best of Provence.

For guests who appreciate gardens, generous hospitality and the gentle pace of rural Provence, Le Jardin des Alpilles offers a picture-perfect setting filled with character and authenticity.
