Lyra

Region: Kingdom of Fife Sleeps: 2

Overview

Set within the rolling countryside of Fife, Lyra offers a carefully considered escape designed for slowing down and switching off. Framed by open views across the surrounding landscape and out towards the sea, the space has been created to feel connected to nature while maintaining a high level of comfort throughout the seasons.

Inside, the design is clean and modern, with large windows drawing in natural light and keeping the outdoors in constant view. The living area is open-plan, combining a well-equipped kitchen, dining space and sleeping area, ideal for unhurried mornings and easy evenings in. Thoughtful details and quality finishes run throughout, creating a space that feels calm, practical and quietly refined.

Step outside and you'll find your own private terrace, perfectly positioned for morning coffee or an evening drink as the light shifts across the landscape. The addition of a private hot tub brings an extra level of comfort, offering a place to fully unwind after a day spent exploring the local area.

Whether you're planning long walks, scenic drives, days out in St Andrews or simply time away from routine, Lyra provides a well-balanced base for a restorative stay.

Location & Local Information

Set within the Fife countryside, Lyra offers a peaceful base within easy reach of the coast, the sea and historic St Andrews. Known for its character, excellent dining and world-renowned golf, St Andrews is just a short drive away, making it easy to mix rural calm with time spent exploring one of Scotland's most iconic destinations.

The wider area is ideal for guests looking to experience both land and sea. From walks along the Fife Coastal Path to afternoons spent discovering the East Neuk's fishing villages, there is plenty to enjoy at an unhurried pace. Golfers are particularly well placed here, with some of Scotland's best-known courses close by, while beach walks and sweeping coastal views add to the sense of escape.

Lyra is a setting that feels tucked away, with plenty to explore just a short drive from your doorstep.

What we love

- Lyra creates a wonderfully tucked-away feel, offering real distance from the everyday, yet within easy reach of standout local highlights a.d tourist hot spots!
- Your own private hot tub gives you space to properly switch off and unwind at your own pace.
- The huge windows draw the outdoors in, with ever-changing light and views forming the backdrop from slow mornings through to evenings spent relaxing on the decking.
- Enjoy a complimentary breakfast to start each day, best enjoyed slowly while taking in the open views from your cabin!

What you should know...

- If you'd prefer a private sauna over a hot tub, we recommend exploring Vega (https://www.oliverstravels.com/britain-ireland/scotland/kingdom-of-fife/vega).
- The cabins are set in a rural location, so having a car is recommended for getting around, exploring the wider area and accessing nearby amenities
- Phone signal can be limited in this part of the region, though Wi-Fi is available at the property.
- The cabins sit within a working farm where the owners live on-site; they're available if needed but always respectful of your space and privacy.
- Designed as an adults-only retreat, the cabin is not suitable for children.
