Location & Local Information

In the very heart of Saint-Gilles-Croix-de-Vie, Villa Boisvinet places you perfectly to enjoy the charm and energy of one of the Vendée's most beloved seaside towns. With the train station, lively centre and sandy beaches all within easy reach, this is a destination where the car can happily stay parked while you soak up the relaxed Atlantic atmosphere on foot.

The house is located on one of the roads leading to the harbour, parallel to the single track train track – you can reach Tour Joséphine within a 5-minute walk and the town's train station is only 650m on foot (with occasional departures towards Challans and Nantes).

Saint-Gilles-Croix-de-Vie's fishing port, famed for its sardine fleet, brings a wonderfully authentic feel, while bustling cafés, markets and shops line the streets nearby. Just a short stroll away, Plage de Boisvinet (750m) is a charming little beach, especially great when the tide is out. Across the river, the town's main beach can be reached in around half an hour on foot and offers a livelier setting in the summer, complete with seasonal surfing schools, beach restaurants and long stretches of sand backed by a charming promenade.

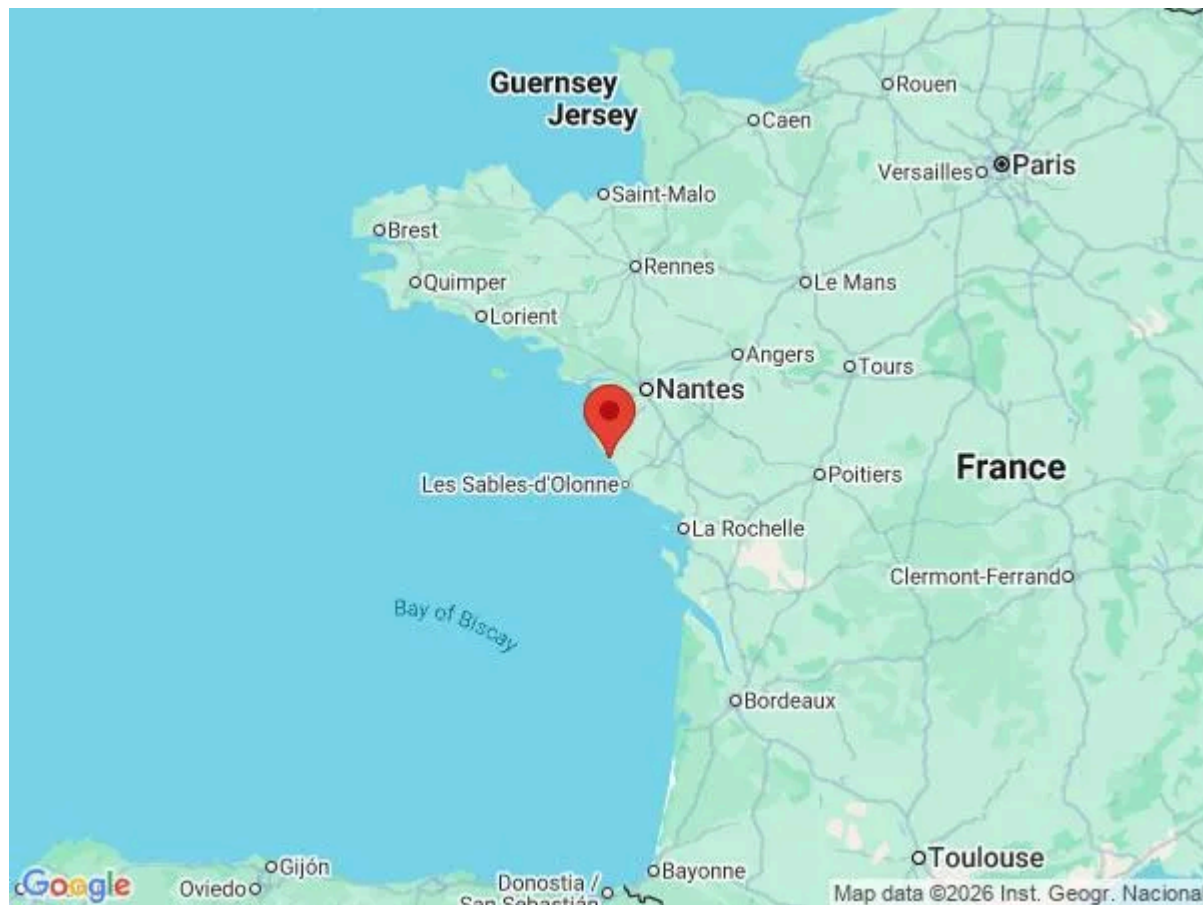

Beyond Saint-Gilles-Croix-de-Vie, the surrounding coastline reveals some of the Vendée's most picturesque seaside landscapes. Brétignolles-sur-Mer (13km) is loved for its rugged shoreline, sandy coves and laid-back surf culture, while nearby Brem-sur-Mer offers an altogether different charm with Michelin-starred dining, excellent local wines and the wild beauty of Plage des Dunes. This area also serves as a gateway to the Marais salants de l'Île d'Olonne, where traditional salt marshes create a striking natural landscape rich in birdlife and local heritage.

For a livelier day out, Les Sables-d'Olonne (34km) combines elegant promenades, expansive beaches and a vibrant marina atmosphere. From Saint-Gilles-Croix-de-Vie's harbour, boat trips to the beautiful Île d'Yeu offer another unforgettable experience, with glorious beaches, hidden coves and peaceful cycling routes waiting to be explored.

Whether you are seeking ocean adventures, fantastic cuisine or coastal town living, Villa Boisvinet enjoys an enviable location at the heart of it all.
