Location & Local Information

This charming villa lies just moments from the sandy shores of Tersanas village, in the sun-drenched north-west corner of Crete.

Nearby dining options include Sunset Taverna in Tersanas (1.3 kilometres) and Irene Tavern in Chorafakia (2.4 kilometres), both offering delicious traditional Greek cuisine.

Daily sailing excursions depart from the small harbour at Maherida Beach (500 metres) and guide guests through Chania Bay and to nearby islands, such as Thodorou and Lazaretta.

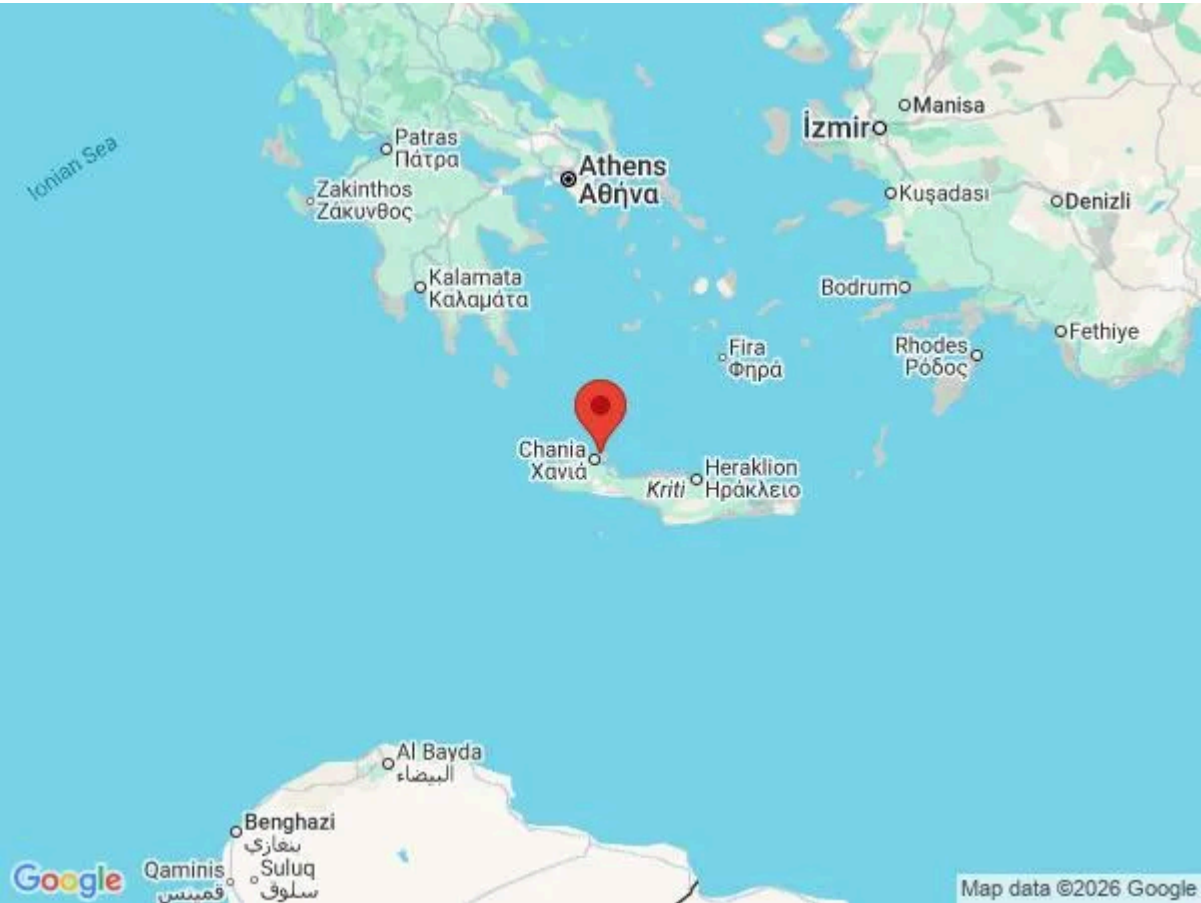

The Akrotiri Peninsula is rich in cultural and historical interest, with unique archaeological sites and striking natural landmarks. Explore the caves of Stavros, Arkalospilio, and Arkaudospilius, or uncover the history of the Gouverneto and Saint John the Hermit monasteries.

A visit to Chania, which is home to the island’s airport, is highly recommended. With a legacy shaped by Minoan, Roman, Byzantine, and Ottoman civilisations, the city offers a captivating blend of architecture and heritage. Most attractions are centred around the beautiful Venetian harbour, a striking reminder of the area’s Turkish and Venetian past. Watching the sunset behind the lighthouse is unforgettable, though the harbour is equally picturesque at any hour.

Crete’s mountainous interior also invites exploration, with its timeworn villages, historic churches, and winding roads revealing a wilder, unspoilt side of the island.
