Location & Local Information

Villa Physalis is in Sivota, a charming seaside village on the mainland of Greece, along the Ionian sea. We're talking sweeping sandy shores, luscious green islets, long sheltered beaches with clear, bath-warm waters and secret coves. Wander along the cobbled streets – there are local tavernas, shops and supermarkets here – or head to Bella Vraka beach - a peaceful spot on a small island that, reached by wading through shallow water from the mainland. There are also plenty of other beaches to pick from, too. The art gallery in Sivota is perfect for picking up handmade souvenirs, or any of the local shops on the main streets will have local delicacies and products worth of bringing home!

Snorkelling and scuba diving are popular in the area. You could hop on a boat to discover the small islands of Mavro Oros, Agios Nikolaos and Mourtemeno. Hunt for your secret coves like the beaches Diapori and Alati. The most popular spot is in Agios Nikolaos – Pisina Beach, where powder-soft sands spill into transparent blue waters in a luscious green surrounding. In the centre of Agios Nikolaos you'll find a range of tavernas, cafés and bars serving both local and international cuisine, too. You can browse the traditional Greek architecture here also, meander through the winding streets or do a spot of shopping. Other famous beaches in the area include Kitroplatia Beach – a sandy stretch close to the amenities of the town – and Almyros Beach – set in a closed cove.

Head to the resort's beach bar for a Freddo Cappuccino, - a staple on a Greek's day. Alternatively, head to the marina and enjoy a delicious seafood platter at the Blue Coast Restaurant, where you can also try other delicious Mediterranean dishes and delectable desserts. Grabbing an outdoor table will allow you to look over the twinkling sea waters as you dine.

What we love

- Only a short stroll to a beautiful private beach
- Spectacular views over the coastline and Ionian Sea from the private infinity pool
- The harbourside town of Sivota is so picturesque and has the most amazing sunsets. Have dinner on the harbourside watching the boats come in for the night.
- The terrace is the perfect place to sit, enjoying the view and sipping a glass of chilled rose wine.
- The outdoor gym means you can exercise and sunbathe at the same time!

What you should know...

- The pool, while stunning, is quite deep so very young children may need supervision, also, access to the pool is through using a ladder which some guests may find more challenging
- The walk back to the villa can be quite steep, especially after dinner and drinks in the village, so sensible footwear is recommended!
- The villa is part of a small hotel resort, so clients can also enjoy the facilities it has to offer, this includes a private pool and beach bar.
