Overview

Bella Forada is a traditional Spanish finca that has been beautifully restored. Once you step through the front door of the main house, there is an immediate traditional feel, with details such as the dark wooden support-beams and carefully chosen pieces of real wooden furniture (made from Teak, Walnut and/or Mahogany). The Spanish terracotta tiles line the floors throughout the property and the whitewashed walls, soft white/cream furnishings, bed-linen and drapes provide a sense of airy-coolness amidst the semi-dry landscape. The exterior of Bella Forada is typical of a traditional finca, with whitewashed walls and large arching windows. Surrounded by a well maintained and discreetly fenced garden, with the rolling olive, lemon and lime groves stretched out beyond, the outdoor space seems never-ending, yet incredibly private.

The garden and terraced areas are floodlit for those warm summer evenings when it is necessary to cool-off by the pool, whilst listening to the singing cicadas. At its heart lies the beautiful kidney-shaped swimming pool with Roman-style steps, perfect for cooling off in the Spanish sunshine! The pool is surrounded by Balinese style four-poster sun-loungers with linen curtains for added protection, should you find the sun a little bit too much. The pool has also got built-in tiled stools, for those wishing to remain comfortably seated with a drink, whilst enjoying the Ibizan sun.
