

Villa Celia

Region: Sesimbra Sleeps: 9

Overview

Enjoying a quiet setting within the Quinta do Peru golf course and surrounded by pine trees, Villa Celia is a bright and spacious holiday home that's ideal for families with children.

There's plenty of space inside and out at Villa Celia, giving everyone the opportunity to find their own special corner. With a neutral décor and natural wood furnishings, this is a relaxing place to retreat to after exploring this beautiful area of the Portuguese countryside.

The villa's accommodation is set over two floors, with the majority of the rooms on the ground floor. On this floor is an open-plan living and dining space. The living area features enough comfortable seating for everyone to get together and watch a film in the evenings. Sharing this space is a small table and chairs that's ideal for enjoying a pre-dinner drink. Patio doors open out onto terraces and extended garden space.

A couple of steps take you into the dining area with an elegant table and chairs that seats up to six people. The modern kitchen is fully-equipped with facilities and conveniences that make cooking meals quick and easy. Also on this floor is one bedroom with double bed and a family bathroom.

There's also a duplex bedroom with a double sofa bed. Stairs take you up to a mezzanine-level bedroom with three single beds.

On the first floor are a further two bedrooms with a double bed each. One has a bathroom with a Jacuzzi bath and the other enjoys terrace access.

The terrace is home to outdoor dining furniture and a barbecue, making it the ideal place for enjoying alfresco meals. There's also a table tennis table and bikes available. The private swimming pool is surrounded by lawns and a selection of sun loungers.

Location & Local Information

Being within the Quinta do Peru golf course, Villa Celia is perfectly located for the golfers of the family. A range of cafés and restaurants are also just a short distance away.

The charming village of Azeitão is just 10 minutes away from the villa by car. It's surrounded by sprawling vineyards and olive groves and is at the heart of Portugal's wine-producing region.

As such, it's most famous for its wines, particularly Moscatel. You can go on guided tours of wine estates, with the museum and vineyard of Quinta da Bacalhôa being well worth a visit.

During the tour you're treated to samples, information on wine-making and stunning art collections and exhibitions. You can also see examples of local Azulejo tiles.

Just a couple of minutes outside of the village is the majestic Arrábida Natural Park. This protected pine-covered area is home to many rare plant species and as you follow paths through the park you'll come across a beautiful 16th-century monastery and several chapels. Head down to the beach below for crystal clear and calm waters that are ideal for snorkelling and swimming.

The city of Setúbal is around a 30 minute drive east of the villa. A port city with a rich fishing heritage, there's something for everyone here. For the culture lovers, there are a range of attractions to visit within the city's historical centre.

The Museu de Arqueologia is one of the most fascinating places to discover Setúbal's history through a range of artefacts. There's also a pretty harbour for watching boats coming and going over a delicious lunch at a traditional restaurant. Being close to the Sado estuary means you can take a dolphin watching tour to spot the pod of mammals that live in the area
