

Casa Solana

Region: Ibiza Sleeps: 12

Overview

An expertly restored finca, set in the east of the island, Casa Solana is a therapeutic, rural retreat. With traditional architecture, white walls and exposed beams, this beautiful home can accommodate up to twelve lucky guests.

Owned by an interior designer, Casa Solana's masterful blend of modern-day opulence and authentic finca charm is a real treat. With three en-suite bedrooms in the main villa and three more found in cabins across the estate, this is an ideal venue if you're planning a large family get-together or country escape with a group of friends.

The main villa features a terracotta tiled floor, vibrant colours, indulgent furnishings and well-equipped yet rustic kitchen. The large dining room overlooks the untethered gardens and countryside views, and you'll love the gorgeously, cosy snug and lazy TV room.

Large, floor length windows and glazed doors are a feature of Casa Solana's design. Allowing natural light to flood in, the hues soften beautifully at the very beginning and the very end of the day. Be sure to venture outside, however, and sit on your terrace for sunset.

You're spoilt for choice when it comes to al fresco dining, soaking up the Ibiza sun or seeking-out some shade. As well as the pool area, you have a Balinese style covered terrace alongside the pool and gardens and a traditional Ibizan covered patio off the kitchen at the other side of the villa. Twelve guests have plenty of space within Casa Solana's picturesque grounds to find their perfect corner and take it easy.

Your private pool is surrounded by a stone terrace, lawned garden and untamed, tropical plants. These lush surroundings are an idyllic pre-cursor to the hills and countryside view which roll away from your pool's edge, spreading out before you as you swim. How utterly serene! When it's time to try off, pick a sun lounger, lie back and unwind.

Guests at Casa Solana have the excellent advantage of being within walking distance of nearby San Carlos however, bear in mind that the route has no pavements and it is also used by cars. You're also very close to a fabulous choice of beaches, and the popular resort of Santa Eulalia is perfect for day trips.

Location & Local Information

Located close to Ibiza's eastern coastline, this picturesque corner of the island is home to olive plantations, vineyards, rolling green hills and that rare breed; the traditional finca. Casa Solana, a fine and beautifully restored example, nestles in amongst its delightful gardens, with breath-taking countryside views which stretch for miles.

There's nothing more relaxing than a holiday home within a short distance of restaurants and places to explore. That's Casa Solana! You can go to the lovely village of San Carlos and discover the pretty white church, tree-lined streets, pavement cafes, and hippie culture.

As well as traditional lifestyle still enduring for locals and those shunning modern life, San Carlos embraces its visitors, luring you into bars, restaurants and market stalls to sample local wine, tapas dishes and craft. There's even a playground for children.

It is from the centre of San Carlos that you can follow a road in virtually any direction and it will take you to one of the fabulous beaches along the east coast. A ten-minute drive from the village, Cala Llenya is sandy, sheltered, quiet and family-friendly.

Cala Nova is a hotspot for surfers and beautifully unspoilt, while Cala San Vicente is relatively urban, well-served with beach-front facilities and where the sea is impossibly blue. Head here for perfect snorkelling beside the cliffs and safe swimming.

Santa Eulalia is the third biggest resort in Ibiza and just a short drive from Casa Solana. Boasting its own broad, sandy beach, you can also promenade along the tree-lined boulevard running along the shore.

You'll see charming shops, bars, ice cream stalls and restaurants. Keep walking, and you'll arrive at the upmarket marina. This is where sleek looking yachts meet designer boutiques and waterfront entertainment venues host chilled-out evenings, which stretch on into the small hours.
