Location & Local Information

While staying at Casa Espetada, you will be delighted to discover that the Restaurant Miradouro is within walking distance, but be prepared to tackle the 400 metre ascent up a hill! The friendly local venue serves a beautiful range of dishes including meat skewers, grilled chicken and passion fruit pudding. The portions are generous here – so expect to take a goodie bag home!

Madeira Beach Marina is a 5-minute drive away from the villa and is an excellent spot to admire the range of boats that frequent the island from. Come here for some quiet contemplation.

The little village of Arco Da Calheta lies only 3 Km away from Casa Espetada. Founded in 1572, the village is an idyllic location for some inspiring nature hikes with it being situated in between breathtaking mountains and below epic surrounding hills.

While in this charming village, head down the island's only tiki bar, Pukiki. The bar was created to emphasize the history between Madeira and Hawaii. Madeira used to be widely referred to as the Hawaii of Europe as many people from the island sailed to Hawaii to find work in the sugar cane industry during the 1800s. With the largest selection of rum on the island, the cocktails at Pukiki are a delight and a must try. The locally run bar is also a stellar location to watch the sunset from and all of the rum-based drinks are created from sugar cane.
