Location & Local Information

Santa Eulalia beach is only a 25-minute drive away from the home and provides gorgeous white sands and clear blue waters. The beach is known for its lively promenades, bars and cafes as well as having sun loungers, parasols and shower facilities.

The beach at Santa Eulalia has something for everyone. Families with small children will make use of swimming in the beaches' shallow end and party-goers will spend all day unwinding on the beach. End your beach day by choosing from one of the array of swanky bars and restaurants on the promenade to retreat to as the sun goes down. If you're looking for an adventure, water sports can be enjoyed at the town's large water sports centre or try snorkelling under the deep blue sea.

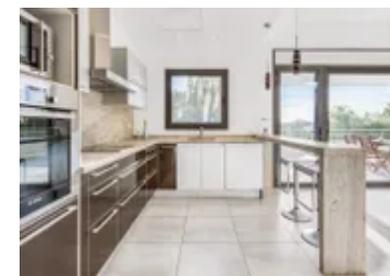

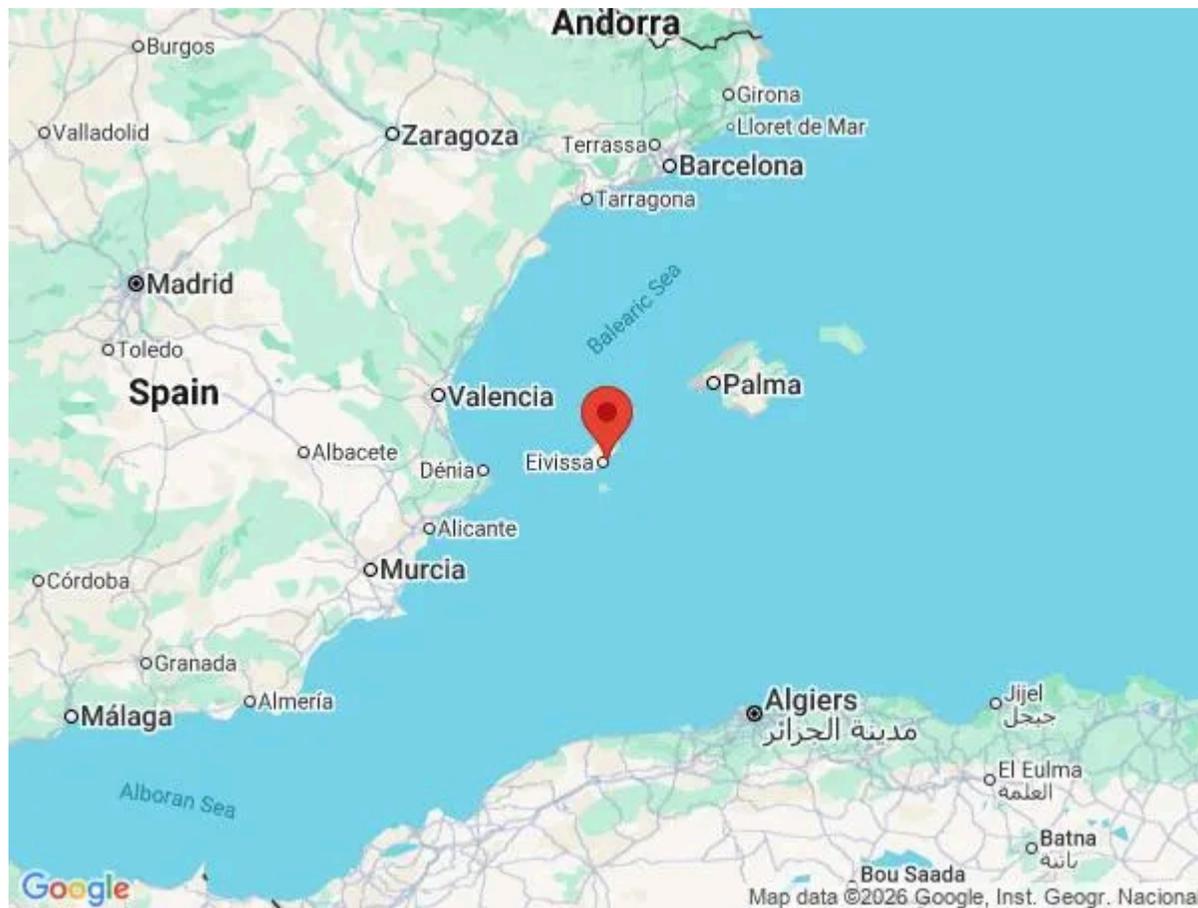

If you wish to enjoy the serenity of the beach. Visit in the morning before the crowds roll in and take in the blissful simplicity that Santa Eulalia provides.

Puig de Missa is a beautiful 16th century church located in the town of Santa Eulalia. Once you've walked up the steep 300-foot tall hill, you will discover the charming white building overlooking Santa Eulalia and the villages of Es Caná and San Carlos. The church also holds a defence tower, used centuries ago as a shelter against pirate attacks and a hauntingly beautiful ancient cemetery.

Best of all, Puig de Missa provides phenomenal panoramic views over Santa Eulalia and the island of Ibiza. This is the place to indulge in the tranquillity of the town and meditate on times gone by.
