Location & Local Information

Mallorca is a wondrous island and is one of the seven islands that make up the Balearics. Its location on the Mediterranean Sea, means the lands have been enriched by its natural goodness, offering an abundance of fresh and delicious foods from land and sea, beautiful terrains and miles upon miles of shorelines!

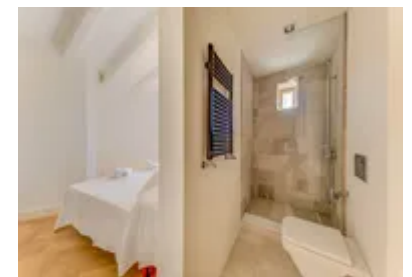

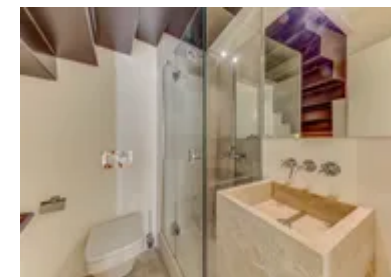

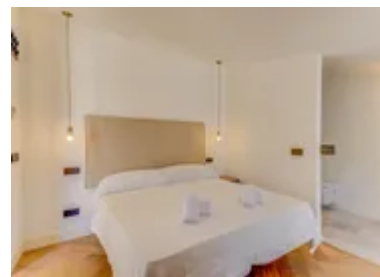

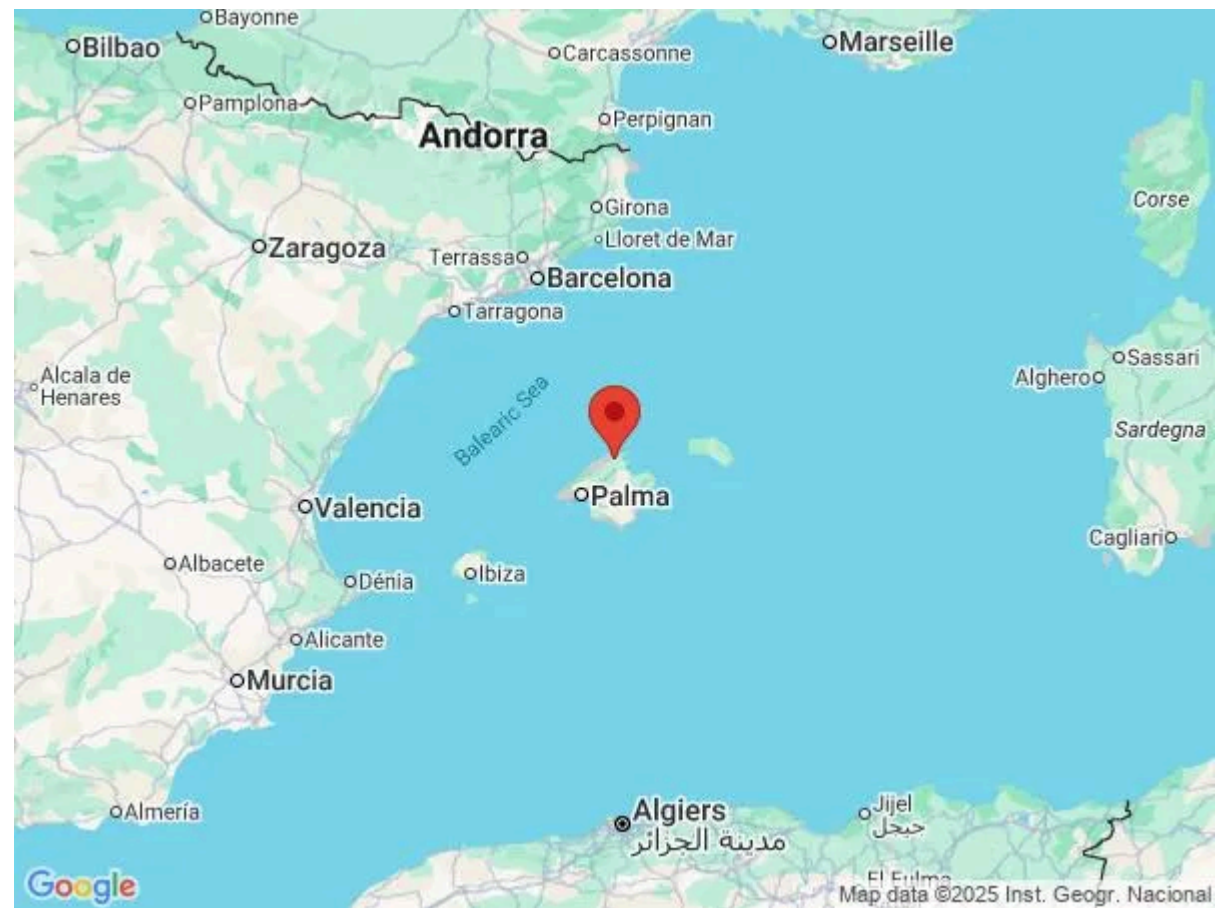

Villa Mikk sits in the old town of Pollençia, a historic, yellow stone-house centre offering tonnes to do and see as well as eat and drink. Catering for both the young and old, this side of Mallorca offers both a more reserved scene as well as the bustling and vibrant spots you can expect on this glorious island!

A host of sites can be seen around this beautiful town situated in the eastern region of the Tramuntana. Within the town why not visit the Roman Bridge, known as Pont Roma, a testimony to the Roman occupation of this wondrous place. Head just out of the residential area and take the scenic route to Santuari del Puig de Maria, a beautiful monastery situated at the top of a hill. On the top of the hill, the monastery provides breathtaking views of the entire old town, so make sure you grab a bite to eat whilst you have these views at your disposal!

Pollençia Beach is a stretch of sandy shoreline that curves around the bay of the same name, ending at its port! Beautiful grains of soft sand give visitors opportunities to frolic in the sand, and the azure, crystalline, inviting sea is perfect for splashing and alleviation from the heat!

Perfect for all of the family, such as those who wish to take a moment and unwind on parasols and sun-loungers with mountain draped backdrops across the sea to complete the idyllic and blissful scenes. Or take part in some wind-surfing and water-sports and have an exhilarating time or simply voyage the seas with the entire group on a boat tour of the beautiful and historic coast!
