Location & Local Information

Salema is so pretty and tranquil, away from it all. Praia de Salema is a Blue Flag beach, so you are assured of clean, azure water and safe bathing with seasonal lifeguard patrol. Either end of the beach is flanked by cliffs of red sandstone and ancient yellow limestone. These limestone rocks are of real interest to fossil hunters and in 2001 dinosaur footprints were discovered in the cliff face.

Close by is the fishing village of Burgau. Like Salema, you will find yourself among the jumble of whitewashed fishermen's cottages that make up the old village. Little fishing boats will be pulled up, lining the steeply sloped streets which double as slipways and a harbour. It is charming.

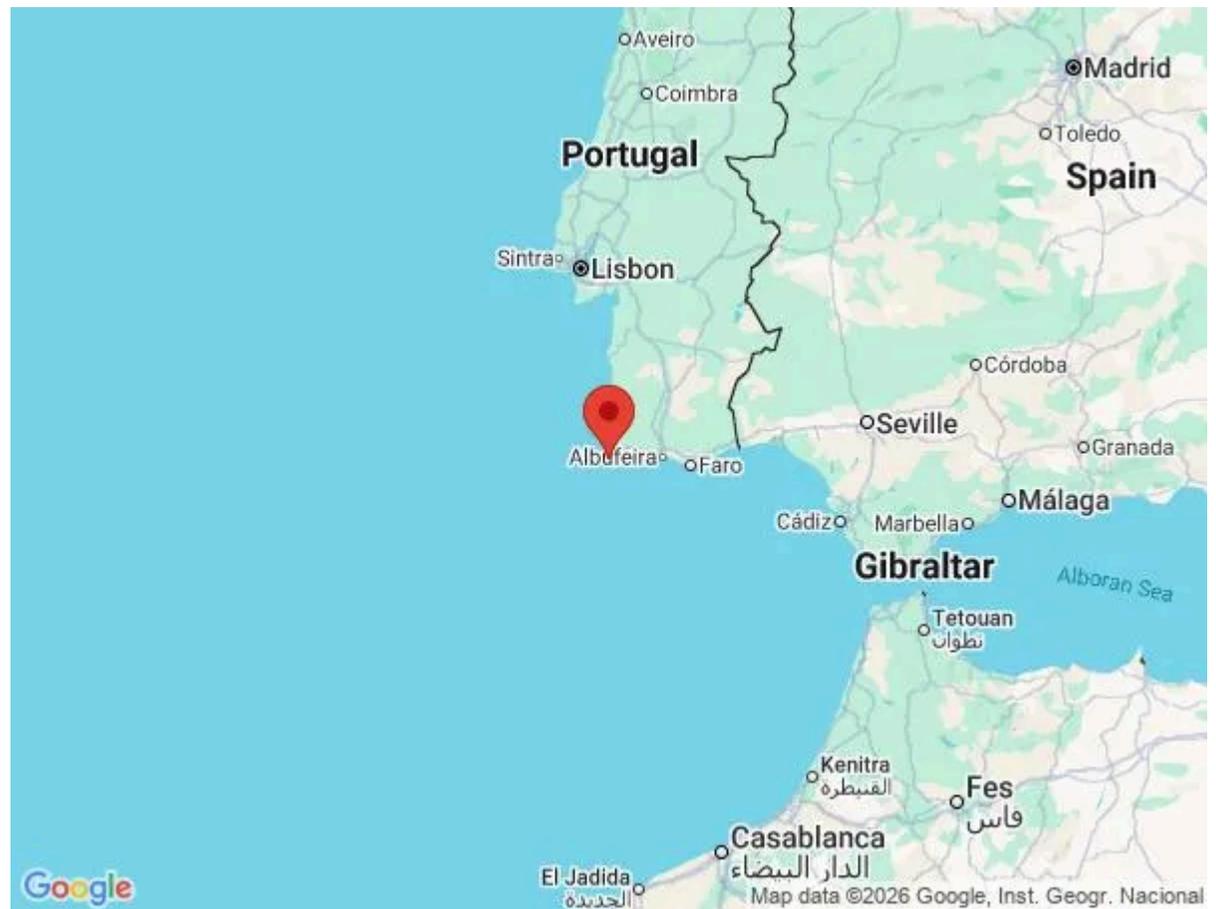

Not only do people visit Sagres for the wonderful beer, there are wonderful sunsets. It is the extreme western tip of the Algarve and a region for the adventurous wanting to pit themselves against the wild environments. The dramatic landscape is dominated by nature's raw power, from raging seas carving into the cliffs to the bracing winds and the intense summer sun. Surfing in the turbulent sea and hiking the cliffside trails is for the thrill-seekers.

Lagos is bustling with activities and nightlife but also historical monuments and architecture. The rocky headland of Ponta da Piedade is outstandingly beautiful. There are boat trips galore to see the amazing coastline, fish, snorkel or even see dolphins.

Golf fans are very lucky in this area with several championship courses nearby. Santo Antonio, Palmares, Espiche and Boavista are all within reach. Santo Antonio also has tennis, a health club and spa.
